

Stage Cleared for Two By-Elections for Dominion House

Electors Will Go to Polls in Yale, B.C., and East Elgin, Ontario, Monday; Outcome of Voting Awaited Throughout Dominion With Interest.

By-elections on Monday next will centre interest in Dominion political affairs in the constituencies of Yale, B.C., and East Elgin, Ontario. The candidates in the two ridings will conclude their campaigns to-day.

In Yale there are two candidates. Lieut.-Col. Edgett, an Independent, is opposing J. A. Mackelvie, representing the Meighen party.

In East Elgin there are three candidates—W. G. Charlton, Liberal; S. S. McDemand, Farmers' Party, and J. R. Stansell, National Liberal and Conservative Party.

The outcome of the voting will be awaited with great interest throughout Canada, as the by-elections are the first since Mr. Meighen became leader of the Borden party on the retirement of Sir Robert.

Vernon, Nov. 20.—Keen interest in being manifested in the result of the polling Monday in the Federal by-election in Yale, where J. A. Mackelvie, nominee of the National Liberal and Conservative Party, and Lieut.-Colonel Edgett, running as an Independent, nominated by a Soldier-Farmer convention and with the endorsement of the Liberals and Labor in the district, are seeking to win the seat in the House of Commons made vacant by the appointment of Hon. Martin Burrell to the Senate.

Both candidates have waged strenuous campaigns, enlivened somewhat by the visit to the constituency of Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, and Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Prime Minister, both of whom delivered several addresses in the riding recently.

Indications point to a large vote with both the candidates and their supporters confident of success.

London, Ont., Nov. 20.—Thousands of dollars in wagers are up on the East Elgin Federal by-election and the United Farmers are still covering all offers and backing their man to win. The Conservatives are betting 2 to 1 on Stansell, the Meighen party candidate. In St. Thomas the odds are even as far as Charlton, the Liberal candidate is concerned. It is anybody's fight, and with favorable weather on Monday every one of the 11,000 voters will be at the polls. Just what the women will do is uncertain and their votes may swing the election.

Sugar Order

One thing that is heard on all sides is mention of the recent action in reference to sugar and the Board of Commerce order.

It is expected that Premier Meighen will fire the closing gun of the campaign at a monster rally in Aylmer this evening.

Meighen.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—(Canadian Press)—Following the famous demonstration of welcome inside of Massey Hall here last night, and the more or less hostile demonstration of a throng of returned soldiers and their friends in the streets outside, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Prime Minister of Canada, with his party, has departed for Aylmer, Ont., where the Government leader is to speak at a meeting of the Government candidate, J. L. Stansell, in the East Elgin by-election and wind up a most strenuous campaign to-night.

Friends of the Prime Minister state that Mr. Meighen was in no way discouraged by the attitude of the opposition element last night. He is said to be positive that the policy of his Government, as decisively enunciated by him at the meeting, in regard to the re-opening of the cash gratuity question will meet with popular approval, including the approval of the thinking men in the ranks of the returned soldier organizations.

Reports from the constituency of East Elgin this morning indicate that Mr. Meighen will face a large audience at Aylmer to-night. All three candidates are confident of the successful outcome of the polling on Monday, in regard to their own election.

Statement on Liquor Act By Moderation League

Vancouver, Nov. 20.—Officers of the Moderation League have issued the following self-explanatory statement on the proposed legislation and the replies received to the League's questionnaire from Vancouver and district candidates. The statement in full follows:

The policy of placing the administration of an act to control the sale of alcoholic beverages in British Columbia in the hands of an independent non-partisan commission being at present a subject of public discussion, it is extremely desirable that the citizens of British Columbia should fully appreciate the significance of the point at issue.

In the first place, all argument of a partisan nature, or advanced for purely political effect, should at once be eliminated as not being in accord with the clearly pronounced wish of the electorate of British Columbia, that political expediency and party affiliation should be set aside, both in framing and administering the proposed act which will provide for Government control and sale of alcoholic beverages.

He was referring to the demand that had been made by Senator La Fontaine of Belgium that raw materials, wherever found, be made available for use of all nations. IS IMPRESSED BY STREAM OF TRAVEL

George Bell States Result of Visit to British Columbia House

"F. C. Wade, K.C., Agent General for British Columbia, has the names of persons leaving England for British Columbia during the past 18 months, with an aggregate capital of $12,000,000," said George Bell to The Times today.

After a thorough examination of British Columbia House, London, during his recent visit to the Old Country, the intention of nearly all these people, Mr. Bell was informed by Mr. Wade, was to locate out here, and this Province will be glad to learn that these people with British ideals and British capital are coming here, as an assurance of greater production," Mr. Bell stated.

ALTERATIONS

"The cost of maintaining this building has been lessening every month recently, and just now Mr. Wade has alterations under way in the basement and in the top story, that will increase the rent income. He proposes to rent part of the main lobby on the ground floor. This will bring in a large additional income so that the financial side of this enterprise which has worried the Legislature in the past, I judge, will cause no concern in the future."

"I was gratified to hear Mr. Wade's explanation of how the Canadian soldiers had been supplied free with sleeping and bathing accommodation in the building, and assisted in various ways."

"But the principal reason why I am more disposed to this building than before is that having visited the Old Country I see that emigration has started Canada-wide. I am certain that Canada will have a better type of citizen than we encourage immigration from our own British Isles rather than from other European countries. The office is meeting with considerable success in inducing settlers with substantial capital to come to British Columbia."

Mr. Bowser Cannot Promise More Than Per Capita Grant

Tells Municipal Delegation It Would Be "Suicidal" To Pledge Himself To Take Over Schools and Hospitals Without Knowing Cost.

It would be "suicidal" and impossible for him to promise at this time that, if elected, his Government would take over the administration of schools and hospitals and share with the municipalities the theatre and motor taxes, W. J. Bowser, K.C., leader of the Opposition, told a delegation representing a number of British Columbia municipalities which waited upon him here at noon to-day. This delegation was representative of the special committee of municipalities formed last week.

Mr. Bowser repeatedly declared that he appreciated the serious financial position of the municipalities and that he was convinced that they must receive more aid from the Provincial Government. He reiterated that, if elected, he would give the cities and towns a $5 per capita grant and would "strain every point" to help them still further. He would not commit himself on such short notice, however, to assume the "awful burden" of administering the schools and hospitals, for such a promise could not be made without deliberate consideration and investigation. It would be necessary before "that we are such a proposal to ascertain how much this plan would cost and how much in possession of that information at present. It would be advisable, too, he thought, to call a conference of representatives from all parts of the Province to consider the matter. However, he would endeavor to render to the municipalities a written answer some time next week, he said.

BEREAVED MOTHER SOBBED ON PLATFORM

Touching Post-War Incident at Meighen's Meeting in Toronto

Toronto, Nov. 20.—While Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen was speaking at the crowded Massey Hall last night on what the Government had done for returned soldiers, an elderly woman appeared from somewhere on the platform and before she could be restrained, walked up to the Prime Minister and commenced to tell, between sobs, some incoherent story about her boys at the front. She was apparently very old, and her face was lined with the marks of grief. She was dressed in a simple, old-fashioned gown, and her hair was white. She was sobbing as she spoke, and her words were incoherent. The Prime Minister stopped his speech and sympathetically tried to make out her story. He told her that he would see that she was justly treated. Then one of the men on the platform led the bereaved mother to an ante-room to get the details and the Prime Minister went on with his speech.

"On these accounts you must see that we are behind in some place," the Alderman went on. "This is the case—there is a shortage in our sinking funds. In the next three or four years we have got to pay for borrowed money for local improvement."

Soldier Settlers Now Repay Dominion Loans

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—(Canadian Press)—More than $1,000,000 has been received in repayments of loans made by the Soldier Settlement Board, according to interim reports from branch offices of the Board throughout the Dominion, and the expectations are that this figure will be considerably exceeded. It is announced that war veterans placed on farm lands in Ontario under the Soldier Settlement Board have made payments of principal and interest due November 1 amounting to $220,772. The amount due on that date was $222,474. Seventy per cent of the 1,142 soldier farmers whose payments were due promptly met their obligations, amounting to $122,881, and the balance was paid up by eighty-five soldiers who paid off their entire loans at a considerable portion of them in advance. These figures are as of November 1.

COMMISSION HEARD VIEWS ON TARIFF

Ottawa Ministers Concluded Their Sessions at Montreal Yesterday Afternoon

Montreal, Nov. 20.—(Canadian Press)—After five days of hard work, the Tariff Commission concluded its sittings here yesterday afternoon. During the sittings briefs were presented by thirty leading industries, the majority of which asked for a higher rate of protection, contending they had been placed in a disadvantageous position by reason of United States dumping. The general opinion was that without a safe and sane tariff, Canadian industries would be dominated by United States and other outside industries, and this view was upheld by representatives of small municipalities throughout the Montreal district. Market gardening, truck farming and agricultural interests in districts adjoining manufacturing centres, strongly endorsed the same view.

The only opposing note against tariff was sounded by two representatives of the United Farmers of Quebec.

GERMANS DECLARE CLAUSE NOT BINDING

Try to Upset League's Method of Allotting Mandates

Geneva, Nov. 19.—Via London, Nov. 20.—A protest by Germany against the manner of the distribution of mandates for her former colonies to-day created a marked impression at the session of the Assembly of the League of Nations, particularly as it was addressed to the Assembly instead of the Council.

Germany consistently has maintained the attitude that the Council does not possess sufficient authority to deal with such questions, since a majority of its representatives form a group of former belligerents, and that the Assembly alone is representative of the entire League, and therefore competent to deal with the question.

Ciuseppe Motta, President of Switzerland, and head of the Swiss delegation, in the course of a speech to-day held that Council and Assembly were two separate and independent organs, and it is probable that the committee on general organization will be called upon to solve the problem.

A dispatch from Berlin yesterday said:

"The German Government no longer considers itself bound by the clause of the Versailles Treaty by which Germany surrenders her colonies to the Allies, according to an official note of protest presented to the League of Nations."

"The note declares that the Allies have not fulfilled their undertakings under the clause of the treaty concerning the allotment of the German colonies and mandates. It adds that, having signed the pact of the League of Nations, Germany understood she would be admitted to the League, and consequently take part in the allotment of mandates, but that now she no longer considers herself bound by that clause."

"The German note, addressed to the secretariat of the League of Nations, is a long document, couched in judicial terms. It is moderate in form, but contains a strong protest against League mandates on which the Assembly will have to pass judgment."

"The existence of the note became known to-day owing to an indiscretion."

PROHIBITION ACT RECORD IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Nov. 20.—Conforming with an order from the police commissioners, Chief Anderson has compiled an official statement giving all available departmental statistics relative to enforcement of the Prohibition Act in this city.

The act became effective on October 1, 1917, and in that year there were 96 cases taken into police court as prosecutions for infractions. In 1918 the number of police court prosecutions jumped to 564. In 1919 the total was 552, and for the expired ten months of the present year 726 court prosecutions for prohibition infractions were taken, says the report.

This work was accomplished by a "dry squad" of one inspector and six men. Before the advent of prohibition in 1917 the police force comprised 291 men. Through 1917 only 172 men were on the force, the same number for 1918, and 197 in 1919. The average for 1920 has been a personnel of 208 men.

On June 10 the commission passed a resolution definitely instructing the chief constable vigorously to enforce the Prohibition Act not only as to the bootleggers, but as to persons having liquor illegally about their persons, doctors issuing prescriptions illegally, etc. This was passed despite Mayor Gale's statement that he thought the department's chief attention should be devoted to the bootleggers rather than to the citizen who might be carrying "something on the hip."

Maritime Provinces' Attitude Regarding Natural Resources of Prairies

Halifax, Nov. 20.—Concerted action on the part of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island in the matter of Western lands, transportation and immigration was agreed upon at an all day conference of the Premiers and several Ministers of the three provinces yesterday.

The members of the conference were non-committal as to what steps had been decided upon to press the question of the rights of the maritime provinces in the matter of prairie lands. In the matter of transportation, an effort will be made to have the Railway Board hold a special sitting in Halifax, before which witnesses will be examined, presenting the viewpoints of the various industries affected by the present situation arising from the increased rates.

It was argued that if the prairie provinces got back their natural resources from the Dominion Government, the subsidies to the maritime provinces from the Federal Treasury should be increased.

DUBLIN COUNTY COUNCIL IGNORES SINN FEIN DECREES

London, Nov. 20.—A dispatch from Dublin said: The County Council yesterday passed a resolution deciding that in future it would comply with the requirements of the Local Government Board, and carry on business with the Department of the Dublin Corporation recently issued.

This is the first breach among the Irish local bodies in loyalty to the "Republican" Parliament. It synchronizes with an application made by the Local Government Board in the Dublin courts against the Dublin City Council and the Monaghan and Cavan Councils to enforce the right of supervision.

Nearly Caught

The chief of staff of the "Irish Republican Army" had a narrow escape from capture by the Crown forces last Tuesday night, when the public house in which he was secretly living was raided, according to an official announcement in Dublin. It was in that raid that the military captured documents concerning the alleged plot to infect Crown troops with typhoid and cavalry horses with glanders, which Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland, announced in the House of Commons Thursday.

WAS HAPPY SURPRISE SAYS MRS. BRADFORD

Vancouver Woman Declares Tanlac Has Restored Her Health After Two Years of Intense Suffering.

"It was certainly a happy surprise for me when I saw how Tanlac was bringing back my health and strength," was the enthusiastic statement made the other day by Mrs. M. C. Bradford, of 821 Campbell Ave., Vancouver, B. C.

"At the time I got Tanlac it seems to me I was just about as bad off as people ever get to be. For two years I suffered intensely from indigestion after every meal. My back and shoulders were so drawn and bent from rheumatism I went about stooped over most of the time. "I suffered day and night from rheumatism, and often had to sit up in bed at night in order to breathe, so I woke up mornings as tired as on going to bed. It was simply out of the question for me to do my housework."

"Well, I have just finished my fourth bottle of Tanlac now, and my indigestion, rheumatism, nervousness and weakness are all things of the past. I feel strong and well just like I did when a girl, and do all my housework and never feel it. I am so grateful to Tanlac for restoring my health, I feel like I want to tell the whole world about it."

Tanlac is sold in Victoria by D. E. Campbell, corner Fort and Douglas, and Lang's Drug Store, Esquimalt Road.

TORONTO AUDIENCE HEARD MEIGHEN

Crowd of Dissatisfied Returned Soldiers Outside Hall While He Spoke

Toronto, Nov. 20.—Premier Meighen addressed a meeting here last night. While within the crowded Massey Hall, Mr. Meighen, with punctuations of applause from his 4,000 auditors, was dealing with the tariff, enunciating the protective platform of the National Liberal and Conservative Party, 3,000 or 4,000 returned soldiers and their sympathizers in the streets outside were practically storming the hall in an attempt to get in.

The overflow audience was held in check by a cordon of nearly 200 policemen, passing the time in chorusing a demand for the Government leader to come out and address them on the gratuity question, and listening to the speeches of their leaders.

The crowd could not enter the hall, as it was full to capacity, but it was evident from the interruptions offered to some of the speakers, particularly Hon. Hugh Guthrie, that there were a number of returned men in the audience.

Disappointed
A list of a dozen questions had been prepared by the Grand Army of United Veterans for presentation to Mr. Meighen, and evidently the soldiers were disappointed because their questions remained unanswered. In addition to this they expressed disappointment because the Prime Minister had not acknowledged receipt of a telegram which had been sent to him a few days ago asking him to say what he was going to do to help disabled veterans and their dependents this winter. The veterans also showed annoyance because Mr. Meighen had not accepted their invitation to address them in the Toronto Armories.

Their criticisms were voiced by J. Harry Flynn on the outside of Massey Hall, where the big meeting within had got going. Then he went inside himself and before doing so asked his followers to create a disturbance.

As An Individual.
In addressing the crowd in the street he was careful to state that he was doing so as an individual, not as an official of the Grand Army of United Veterans. As a paring shot Flynn declared that if he were done to relieve the situation within the next two weeks he would send returned men out on the streets of Toronto with boxes in their hands to collect charity. He said there were 8,000 veterans out of work in Toronto and there were many cases of destitution among them.

The crowd booed and jeered when Flynn told them that Mr. Meighen had sidestepped the veterans in the matter of addressing them or answering their questions.

Ran After Auto.
Near the close of the meeting the crowd gathered in the vicinity of Massey Hall in larger numbers than in the early evening and appeared in

OWES HER LIFE TO "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

After Years of Suffering with Dyspepsia, this Fruit Medicine Gave Relief

Mlle. ANTOINETTE BOUCHER

917 Dorion St., Montreal.
"I am writing to tell you that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-tives' for this remedy relieved me when I had abandoned all hope of ever recovering my health. I suffered terribly with Dyspepsia. I had it for years and all the medicines I took did not do me any good. I read something about 'Fruit-a-tives' being good for all Stomach Troubles and Disorders of Digestion so I tried them. After finishing a few boxes, I was entirely relieved of the Dyspepsia and my general health was restored."

I thank the great fruit medicine, 'Fruit-a-tives', for this wonderful relief.

an ugly mood. Watching for the Prime Minister to leave the hall, the crowd stood around a cordon of fifty policemen who were drawn up around Mr. Meighen's automobile. Mr. Meighen remained in the hall later than the crowd had anticipated and they mistook prominent local Conservatives for him. These they hooted by turns. When at last Mr. Meighen appeared the police pressed the crowd back. He was driven down Victoria Street at a rapid rate and quickly outdistanced the crowds, which were running after him at first.

Meighen's Speech.
In his speech Mr. Meighen referred briefly to the war administration and to the handling of war and after-war problems by the Canadian people and by the Government.

It is worth while for the Canadian people to reflect that against a Government which has encountered all the hazards and discharged all the responsibilities of a war and after-war administration, the issue raised now is not on its record, but on the old trade question which has been dug up and brought to life for the purpose, he said. "This has been made the issue by our foe and on this issue we join. We take up the gauntlet thrown down. We declare where we stand. We ask those opposed to us to be equally frank and then people can decide without confusion and without complication, and therefore, with finality."

To those who, like Mr. Cramer, demand abandonment of the protective principle we answer 'No.' The protective tariff is necessary to this country. There is no country in the world where its abandonment would be more disastrous than it would be in Canada."

Leader of Opposition Reviews Allegations

W. J. Bowser, K.C., Conservative leader, charged at Esquimalt last night that the Liberal Government and not the former Conservative administration ruined the credit of British Columbia. Mr. Bowser spoke for nearly two hours to 325 persons at the Sailors' Club.

It was the Opposition Leader's first speech of the campaign in the Victoria area. He pleaded that he had been reformed and purged by his four years in the wilderness of opposition, and asserted that the Liberals had not made good their charges against him.

"I want to know who ruined the public credit of B.C.," Mr. Bowser said. "When we left office in 1916 we were good. In 1916 we borrowed $1,000,000 in New York for farmers' credits at 5.52 per cent. and the war had been on for two years. The week after we left office in New York, England and France came along and they paid more for their money in New York than B. C. did."

"Then this Government comes into office in November, 1916. What happened? They floated a loan in April, 1917, and they had to pay 7 1/2 per cent. The credit of B. C. went to pieces just as soon as the Liberal Government came into office. They have never yet borrowed money at 5.52 per cent."

Must Pay Exchange.
"But Mr. Oliver says that they have borrowed money at 103, that is, sold their bonds at a premium of 3 per cent. in Seattle. What happened there that they sold our bonds at 93, a discount of 7 per cent. The price of 103 happened because of the adverse rate of exchange between Canada and the United States."

"And this Government has got to pay these bonds in New York. Every time they send over a $50,000 draft to pay this interest, they have to pay 10 to 15 per cent. exchange. I think I am safe in saying that at the end of three years exchange will not be normal and when they come to pay that loan in New York they will have to pay 10 to 15 per cent. on that principal."

"It will cost British Columbia for that loan not 6 per cent, but 9 1/2 per cent. And yet they go around the country trying to camouflage what the money really cost them. And there is none more guilty than my Hon. friend the Premier as he put it in writing."

Found Not Guilty.
"This Government has charged me and my colleagues with every political crime. There were none left out. No doubt the Premier and some Conservatives and Independents thought me as bad as they said I was."

NATIONAL ASSEMBLY OF ENGLISH CHURCH

London, Nov. 20.—(Canadian Associated Press)—Steps toward self-government for the established church have been taken by the National Assembly of the Church of England. This is a new body, and it has been meeting this week at Lambeth Palace.

The appeal for re-union of churches was referred to in a speech delivered by the Archbishop of York, who hoped steps would soon be taken to institute conferences on the proposal. The Archbishop of Canterbury said that active steps had already been taken, but the position at present was grave and delicate.

Curling Hair This Way Preserves Its Beauty

That dull, dead appearance of the hair no longer troubles the woman who has adopted the salmeline method of keeping her tresses in curl. The result is very different from that produced by the drying, devitalizing waving iron. The hair appears more naturally wavy and curly, and the application is really beneficial to the life and growth of the hair.

Any druggist, of course, can supply the liquid salmeline. A small quantity should be put on just before doing up the hair, using for the purpose a clean tooth brush. Drawing this down the full length of the hair from root to tip. The effect is delectably surprising, and there is no discoloration, no stickiness, greasiness, nor any other unpleasant accompaniment, the hair is quite manageable, no matter how it is fashioned.

ASQUITH SPEAKS OF IRISH SITUATION

London, Nov. 20.—Strong condemnation of the Government's Irish policy and reprisals in Ireland was voiced by Former Premier Asquith in a speech at the National Liberal Club yesterday. He declared that cold-blooded, deliberate murder had been traced and credited to uniformed servants of the Crown, and asserted they were being done in Ireland "by authority and incitement of the Executive, which would take a fitting place in the blackest annals of the lowest despotism of the European world."

"The plain truth is," said Mr. Asquith, "that since the adoption of this practice of reprisals, so far as my knowledge of history goes in the annals of the British administration, justice has been put into the background and vengeance has been enthroned in its place. The executive with its agents and servants, has allowed itself to be made to carry out a policy of blind, pitiless and indiscriminate revenge."

MEXICO CITY STREETS WILL BE IMPROVED

Mexico City, Nov. 20.—The dilapidated condition of Mexico City streets which caused taxicab owners of the city to stage a demonstration of protest recently, was made the subject of an investigating tour by the City Council. Members were carried in automobiles over the city and so effectively did the chauffeurs strike all the ruts and holes that a budget of 300,000 pesos for street improvement has now been voted.

At the demonstration held by the taxicab men a huge poster announced that a small car and its driver had dropped into a hole on Avenida Madero, the main thoroughfare of the city, and were lost for three days before they were accidentally discovered.

To Get Rid of Wrinkles and Bad Complexions.
Most cosmetics clog the pores. In cool weather, when the skin does not perspire freely, this interferes greatly with elimination of waste material, injuring instead of aiding the complexion. Creamary mercerized wax serves all the purposes of creams, powders and rouges, giving far better results. It actually beats off an offensive skin, at the same time unclogging the pores. Minute particles of scarf skin come off day by day, causing not the least discomfort. Gradually the healthy, younger skin beneath peeps out, and in less than a fortnight you have a lovelier complexion than you ever dreamed of acquiring. Mercerized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is spread on nightly like cold cream and washed off mornings. One ounce usually suffices.

For removing wrinkles, without stopping the pores with heavy stuff, here's a never-failing formula: One ounce powdered azoalite, dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Use as wash lotion. Every time will quickly disappear.

BANK OF MONTREAL'S ANNUAL STATEMENT

Montreal, Nov. 20.—The annual statement of the Bank of Montreal, accepted as an indication of the financial condition of the Dominion, and which was issued yesterday, shows the bank made a profit of $4,039,995 last year, as compared with $3,214,227 in 1919. This profit, added to the balance of profit and loss a year ago, which amounted to $1,812,854, and to the $1,000,000 of premium on new stocks, brought the amount available for distribution up to $6,845,850, which was distributed as follows: $2,960,000 in regular dividends and a bonus of 2 per cent; $2,000,000 placed to the credit of reserve account; $210,000 war tax on note circulation; and $425,000 reserve for bank premises. This brought the total amount carried forward into the new year of $1,251,850.

OLD AGE PENSIONS NEEDED IN ONTARIO

Toronto, Nov. 20.—Hon. Walter Halls, Minister of Labor, believes there is need of old age pensions in Ontario, for people of sixty-five years and upward have great difficulty in securing employment. The need for pensions, in the Minister's view, is greatest as it is in Great Britain, but the necessity, he believes, does not exist in this Province.

FINANCIAL FACTS.

Unless he is more than ordinarily interested in financial matters the average voter usually relies upon the pronouncement of the outside money markets rather than upon the election utterances of party candidates. He will accept the actual bids for British Columbia bonds as an expression of faith by the investing public. As the periodic offers vary below or above the zero line he will adjust his view accordingly. During the last three years he has been able to reconstruct his confidence in provincial credit. By his own peculiar process the Leader of the Opposition is doing his level best to destroy that confidence.

In view of the studied campaign that is being waged by the Bowser party in an effort to convict the Oliver Government of a policy of extravagant borrowings it may be as well to present the actual facts to the electorate. The general charge is one of having imposed a fresh liability upon this Province during the last four years of something like twenty-seven million dollars. In none of the Opposition platform utterances has there been any attempt to explain why it was necessary for the Oliver Government to borrow this money. What are the facts? In the first place $9,500,000 has been borrowed for construction of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. Four million eight hundred thousand dollars had to be borrowed to retire a P. G. E. note. In this case the liabilities of the Province were not increased for the reason that the Government took over six million dollars worth of guaranteed stock. Four million dollars went to meet a legacy of liability and deficit left by the Bowser Government. It will be seen, therefore, that out of that twenty-seven millions, $18,300,000 had to be found by the Oliver Administration to satisfy liabilities left by its predecessors in office.

What of the rest? With the exception of $1,650,000 borrowed for good roads and highways by the Department of Public Works the balance of the Oliver Government's borrowings have been devoted to loans for various development enterprises. All these outlays, however, are returnable to the Province with interest. Would the Bowser party quarrel with the following loans: Land Settlement Board, $2,650,000; better housing, $1,361,000; Soldiers Land Act, $700,000; Water Act 1914, $395,000; Department of Industries, $690,000; and South Vancouver, $790,000? In studying these various items, moreover, the voter would do well to remember that $14,300,000 of the Government's borrowings are involved in the P. G. E. for the extension of which Mr. Bowser would obligate the Province to another twenty-five millions of dollars of debt in the event of his selection to lead the next Government.

After digesting these details will an intelligent electorate regard the financial policy of the Oliver Government as extravagant? If it prefers the facts—and it assuredly does—it will know at what value to accept the charges of Mr. Bowser and his candidates.

BRITAIN'S FOOD.

No better argument could be recruited in support of the Agricultural Bill which is now before the British House of Commons than the statement of fact that the Motherland imports five hundred million pounds worth of foodstuffs every year which her own climate and soil is capable of producing. The new measure is designed to give the Board of Agriculture power to enforce a proper programme of cultivation in all cases where it is considered production of food could be increased.

In other words the Government is adopting a policy which should pave the way to self support and remove the danger of starvation from without. In discussing the bill in its initial stages the Prime Minister emphasized the crying shame attaching to the importation of such an enormous quantity of foodstuffs at a time when an adverse foreign exchange was at its most unfavorable point.

The cry of "confession" undoubtedly will go up from the landed gentry, but much of the resentment which followed the Prime Minister's Limehouse speech has been absorbed in patriotic sacrifice during the last six years. It may still be possible to stimulate a peace time movement which is as much a defensive measure as one or other of the fighting services.

THE FAROE CONTINUES.

According to the Chairman of the Commission which has begun to investigate the Irish question at Washington "only the direst necessity" could justify a resort to arms for the adjustment of disputes in Ireland. He declares that conditions in the Emerald Isle "have created and are creating a widening rift in the friendly relations of English-speaking people not only in America, but all over the world." The gentleman in question is quite right about the use of arms; but the direst necessity has arisen on more than one occasion, and their use by the authorities has been invoked to ward off the kind of attack that has meant nothing short of death to those who represented law and order. When he talks about friendly relations and the cause of their disturbance he does not need to go further than the farical court over which he presumes to preside. The Committee of One Hundred in itself is composed very largely of Irish sympathizers and such Anglophobes as William Randolph Hearst and Jane Addams, while its self-imposed task has no other object ahead of it but to throw the onus for Ireland's plight upon the British Government. Its collection of "evidence" is an unnecessary proceeding for the reason that its verdict was obvious when the idea was made public by that American of Teuton birth, Osborn Garrison Villard.

MR. BOWSER'S LAND POLICY.

It is not flattering the intelligence of the average voter to suggest that until the Leader of the Opposition is given an opportunity to inaugurate a land settlement policy little or no progress will be made in the development of rural industries in this Province. Public memory is not too short to recall the manner in which more than six million acres of the most desirable land in British Columbia were handed over to the speculators when Mr. Bowser's party was in office. Very few of those people who take an interest in the conduct of the public affairs of the country will have forgotten that when the Bowser Government left office in 1916 between fifteen and sixteen millions of dollars were owing on these very lands. And it required no stretch of the imagination to realize at that time that no real attempt was being or would be made by the Bowser Government to collect the defaulting payments. Nor is it difficult to remember that a judge of the Supreme Court of Canada declared that a large portion of those lands were staked in violation of the land laws of the Province. Is this the kind of a land settlement policy for which our morning contemporary pleads when it asks that the Bowser forces be given an opportunity to put into effect land settlement proposals "which they have had under consideration for some time past"? No doubt the Leader of the Opposition would be glad of a chance to square himself with his friends, the land barons. He would welcome an opportunity to relieve them of the sting which the Oliver Government has injected into its programme of compulsory sale or development—the actual procedure by which the Province regained an interest in its own property.

IRON AND STEEL.

This week's issue of The British Columbia Gazette indicates the formation of a company for the installation of blast furnaces and the creation of an iron and steel plant in this Province. The concern is capitalized at fifteen million dollars and the promoters intimate that provision will be made for the ultimate expenditure of fifty million dollars. Within six months it is hoped that an active start upon construction may be commenced.

Both the Attorney-General and the Minister of Mines have placed their stamp of approval upon the project, while the Premier recently voiced the sentiments of himself and his colleagues to one of the provisional directors when he stated that "the Government stands ready to encourage work of this nature." In pursuing such a course the Government knows that it has the whole-hearted support of everyone in the Province, regardless of political affiliations.

It is understood that British capital—and lots of it—is particularly interested in the proposed undertaking, and that the plan has arrived at the point of incorporation only after investigation of the most exhaustive kind in which the technical experts of the Provincial Department of Mines have played a not inconsiderable part. It goes without saying that the establishment of an iron and steel industry in this Province would place British Columbia on the industrial map for all time.

NOTE AND COMMENT

According to a Washington dispatch chemical experts in the United States are putting forth every effort to prepare the Republic for a suitable gas defence in the event of another war. Does this presage support for the League of Nations or is it merely a renunciation of the splendid isolation theory?

Mr. Bowser says he has not gone into the various soldier settlements to stir up trouble and create ill feeling against the Oliver Government. Certainly not; his chief mission was to help to frame a resolution of thanks to the Administration for the enterprise shown on behalf of British Columbia's returned citizens.

"This contest does not hinge upon me personally," Mr. Bowser remarked yesterday evening. Unfortunately for him his record in office makes the contest hinge upon him to a very considerable extent. He asks the electors to return him to office as leader of a Government and the electors have only his record upon which to base their verdict. There is enough in that record to blast the political prospects of Mr. Bowser for all time.

WHY

DO WE SPEAK OF "RAINING CATS AND DOGS?"

(Copyright, 1920, By The Wheel Syndicate, Inc.)

Those who consider only the etymology of words and phrases, overlooking the folk-lore which lies behind many of them, maintain that this expression is derived from the French catapoupe, meaning a waterfall, and that it was Anglicized into "cats and dogs" by persons who caught only a part of the sound of the word.

But, as a matter of fact, the phrase has its origin in the custom of referring to the male blossoms of the willow tree, used on Palm Sunday in many parts of rural England to represent palm, as "cats and dogs," just as they are now called "pussy-willows." These increase in size rapidly after a few warm April showers, and the belief prevailed that the rain brought them. Hence the saying, "It's raining cats and dogs."

WHERE IT STARTED

CANALS
(Copyright, 1920, By The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

The first canal of which we have accurate knowledge was the Royal Canal of Babylon, built in 600 B. C. The Grand Canal of China, built in the 15th Century, connected the Yangtze-Kiang River with the Pei-Ho. It had locks, which were inclined planes up and down which the boats were dragged. The lock as we know it was invented in 1481 by an Italian engineer, though Holland also claims the credit.

HOROSCOPE

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1920.
(Copyright, 1920, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Mercury rules this day with friendly power, according to astrology. Saturn is in malefic aspect in the evening. All the signs seem to emphasize the continued influence of propaganda. The printed word will have great sway. Newspapers and periodicals come under the best direction of the stars. Editors will enjoy unusual benefits. Advertising is to become more and more a medium of modern progress and it is to develop along novel lines, the stars predict.

Saturn continues in menacing aspect and the outlook for mines and mining is not so good as it should be. The prevalence of strikes that affect the necessities of life is prognosticated. There is a sign that is read as presaging the vanishing of old men and old ideas, but there may be a period of seeming reactionary tendencies. The stars declare that real progress in recognition of universal brotherhood will be made in the new year. Women will do well to make no important moves to-day. They may seem to lose ground politically for a brief time, but they are to gain great power later.

While Saturn frowns dark and lonely places should be avoided. Thieves prosper during this configuration. The affairs of hospitals and public institutions may be investigated at this time.

Theatrical affairs will be fairly prosperous at this time, but many changes in management are prognosticated. California continues subject to a rule of the planets making for great progress in all the arts. There will be a peculiar friendliness to whatever belongs to the world of beauty among residents on the Pacific Coast.

RED CROSS DRIVE TO BEGIN MONDAY

Appeal to Philanthropic Citizens to Aid Stricken Countries

Good progress is being made in the organization of the Victoria effort, under Red Cross auspices, for $10,000 towards the British Empire Relief Fund for the war stricken areas of Europe and Asia, where disease and distress is rampant. The drive will begin here on Monday.

The Right Hon. Arthur J. Balfour on a recent occasion said that in his judgment actual famine had assumed such dimensions as to lie beyond the capacity of private charity; but governments have now rendered assistance in supplying food and it becomes the duty of the British Empire through the action of its private citizens to concentrate upon the menacing problems of disease and its attendant ills.

Near End of Resources

Some twelve nations, many of them allies during the war, are very near the end of their resources to fight disease and almost helpless in the matter of helping themselves. A recent report says that in these countries millions of our fellow creatures are lying stricken of disease, distress and despair. The plague, typhus, the most loathsome of fevers, is killing off men and women and children like flies, and threatens to overcome Europe next winter. Poland and Galicia appear to be in the worst plight of all. Typhus was bad enough in 1918, but the disease has spread until it is at present seven or eight times worse than four years ago. In Galicia the schools are closed, business is at a standstill and civic life is crippled. There are no doctors, no nurses and no beds. The miserable, typhus-stricken patients lie unattended upon the bare floors. In almost every hut there are several cases of typhus and in many instances whole families are stricken with the disease and are perforce left to die unattended. It has been calculated that there is only one doctor for every 150,000 inhabitants. In places the mortality has reached the awful figure of 60 per cent.

The Council of the League of Nations has just issued the following statement, signed by Hon. Arthur J. Balfour: "Men, women and children are dying by thousands, and over vast and civilized areas there are neither medical appliances nor medical skill sufficient to cope with the horrors by which we are faced. Governments have in certain cases done all in their power to bring relief, but there remains a vast field for charitable enterprise which can be dealt with only by voluntary effort."

To Co-ordinate Effort

For the first time India, the Dominions and the Crown Colonies of Great Britain are being invited to make common cause with the Mother Country in an unselfish campaign to save these unfortunate people, many of whom were our allies and associates during the war.

The British Empire Relief Fund is designed to co-ordinate the efforts of all existing agencies and to promote an impressive British effort on behalf of the distressed areas in central Europe and the Near East. The work is to be carried out in close co-operation with the League of Red Cross Societies, which league now includes twenty-seven nations. The agencies of the league will be mainly responsible for the application of the fund in the several countries.

HISTORIC DATE IS COMMEMORATED BY I.O.D.E. CHAPTER

Birthday of Founding of Colony Marked by Impressive Ceremony

The sixty-second anniversary of the Legislative birthday of the colony of British Columbia was fittingly commemorated yesterday afternoon at an interesting ceremony held in the Parliament Buildings under the auspices of the Lady Douglas Chapter, I. O. D. E. George G. Bushby, grandson of the late Sir James Douglas, was in the chair, and the regent, Mrs. R. B. McKicking, presided. Among the hundred or so present were officers and members of the Chapter, representatives of the pioneer families, and the general public. A company of Girl Guides stood at attention during the proceedings, and standard-bearers of five interested chapters of the Order with their standards occupied a prominent position.

After the opening remarks by the chairman a letter forwarded by Judge Howey, of New Westminster, and written in November, 1858, at the time of the proclamation ceremonies at Fort Langley by an eye-witness, was read, graphically describing the picturesque incidents in which the old steamers Otter and Beaver took a prominent part in conveying officials to the scene.

A letter from R. E. Gonnell, describing incidents of the early days of the colony's history, was read by J. Forsyth, the provincial librarian. Mr. Forsyth, commenting upon the letter, paid a tribute to Mr. Gonnell and to the late Mr. Schofield, to whose efforts in obtaining reliable data of the early history of the Province much credit was due. Mr. Forsyth expressed the hope that there would be further commemorative ceremonies in the Parliament Buildings along similar lines to that of yesterday.

Wreaths to Honor Dead. In accordance with the Chapter's motto to "keep green the memory of our illustrious dead," laurel wreaths were then placed on the portraits of the early days of that community, assembled for the occasion. With the standard-bearers, Girl Guides and the general assembly standing at attention.

Mrs. Dennis Harris, honorary regent of the Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.D.E., placed a laurel wreath on the bust of Sir James Douglas, and on the portrait of Sir Henry Crease; Mrs. Laundry, regent of the Bishop's Chapter, laid a wreath on the portrait of Bishop Cradock and the Hon. Roderick Finlayson. Sir Matthew Baillie Begbie's photograph was decorated with a similar wreath by Miss Sanson, the regent of the chapter, while the honorary regent, Mrs. Thompson, of the Commodore Broughton Chapter, laid a wreath on the portrait of Commodore Broughton, and Captain Vancouver, whose portraits are in the corridor leading to the library. Mrs. Chow, regent of the Robert Burns McKicking Chapter, was called upon to honor the portraits of Hon. Dr. Helmcken and Hon. Dr. Tolmie, while Miss Caryl Tolmie placed a wreath on a portrait group of the first Legislative Assembly, which consisted of J. B. MacKay, H. J. Skinner, J. D. Pemberton, J. S. Helmcken, James Yates and Joseph Porter (the clerk).

Pioneer Reminiscences. The impressive little ceremony was followed by an interesting address by Mr. John Jardine, of Port Langley, an old-time resident, who spoke of the early days of that community. Short addresses were also given by the sons of three former legislators, Lindley Crease, K. C., F. B. Pemberton and Stuart Yates, while Mr. James Anderson and Mrs. Wales also gave a few reminiscences of pioneer days. Prior to the singing of the National Anthem, Mrs. McKicking moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Bushby as chairman, to the Provincial Government for the use of the room, and to Mr. Forsyth for the kind assistance rendered to the chapter. The National Anthem was then sung.

MISS SLACK ARRIVES IN CITY TO SPEAK

World-famed Temperance Worker Has Achieved Much For Cause

To say that Miss Agnes Slack, of Ripley, England, honorary secretary of the World's Women's W. C. T. U., is too modest about her own achievements in her fight against the liquor traffic is no misstatement of fact.

Mrs. Slack has arrived in Victoria and during her stay will speak on Sunday at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church; at a mass meeting at the Metropolitan Church on Monday evening; and on Tuesday afternoon will speak to the Women's Canadian Club on "Our Eastern Empire."

One of her big achievements was the organization of Sunday service for the world's convention throughout England and Wales by her own personal effort. For eighteen months she worked untiringly by letter and interview to make it certain that on April 13, 1920, every possible church service should be directed toward the one subject, "Temperance and prohibition."

Sixteen hundred Salvation Army services were promised; co-operation secured among the Presbyterian, Wesleyan, Baptist, Congregational, Unitarian and Free Methodist churches, as a result of her interview. But most wonderful of all in St. Paul's Cathedral, "the church of the Empire," the Bishop of London promised. And most wonderful of all the shrine of the "Empire," Westminster Abbey, was promised to Miss Slack by the Dean of the Abbey, for the holding of a Temperance Sunday on the World's Convention Sunday. Miss Slack began, and to her belongs the credit of aligning these great churches with the temperance world movement.

Because at the World's Convention in London there was only one representative from Western Canada, and because of the yearning to do something for the daughter that had done so much for her mother in the World's War, Lady Carlisle made a request to Miss Slack to visit and tour Western Canada, and she is now making a tour of all the chief cities in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, and will visit through the United States on her return trip. Everywhere she has spoken she has placed before her audiences quite a different phase upon the referendum question, making it not a province question alone, but one affecting the whole of the Empire.

MAY BE FIRST WOMAN SENATOR IN CANADA

Calgary Paper Mentions Mrs. Arthur Murphy For Alberta Vacancy

Calgary, Nov. 20.—In an article entitled "Will Alberta Woman Be First to Enter as Member of the Canadian Senate?" the Albertan says in part: "Will Mrs. Emily Ferguson Murphy, police magistrate of Edmonton, be appointed to the Senate of the Dominion of Canada by the Meighen Government? A very vigorous canvass of influential Conservatives, especially in the eastern provinces, on behalf of such an appointment, has aroused considerable interest in Ottawa and Alberta. This canvass was begun nearly two years ago, when the death of Spencer Talbot left a vacancy to be filled by a representative from this province. Mrs. Murphy has openly advocated the appointment of women to the Senate in the various societies in which she holds office, particularly in the Women's Institutes, the National Federation of which she is president. The personal canvass of influential politicians, however, has been conducted without publicity. When the appointment of Mrs. Murphy was urged upon the former Premier, Sir Robert Borden, he raised the objection that it would be unconstitutional under the British North America Act. Sir Robert conceded that it might be possible to have the B.N.A. amended by the Imperial Parliament at the request of the Canadian House of Commons, but promised no action in that direction.

"With the accession of Mr. Meighen to the Premiership the claims of Mrs. Murphy have been advanced somewhat more urgently. It is to be expected that the attention of the House of Commons will be drawn to the need of women in the Senate in order to get through certain amendments to the criminal code advocated by the National Council of Women, and hitherto vetoed by the Senate."

In Zealand the girls and women all wear full long black skirts, white over gold spirals, coral beads and aprons.

TO-DAY'S JEWELS

Amber is the talisman against sorrow to-day. According to the ancient Greek poets, the grains of amber were the tears annually shed over the death of their brother Phaethon by the Heliades, after grief had changed them into poplars, growing on the banks of the Eridanus. Thus no more charmingly poetic stone could be chosen for wear than the amber, and for that reason it is well suited as a gift. For those whose birth anniversary this is, the coral is the main stone. It should always be worn, for its brilliant color makes it conspicuous. If the wearer wishes to secure the full benefit of its power to bring good health and long life. Dark blue is to-day's significant color. Those who wear it will be granted

ESQUIMALT WOMEN SHOW ENTHUSIASM

Over One Hundred Supported Meeting For Liberal Candidate Yesterday

Evidence of the keen interest taken by the women members of the Esquimalt electoral constituency in the legislative campaign was evidenced at the Ballots' Home yesterday afternoon, when over one hundred women listened with interest and enthusiasm to addresses on the questions of the hour. Brief talks were given by Mrs. Alfred Watt, M.B.E.; Mrs. Tyrrell Godman and Miss Bell, while a fine musical programme was provided by Mrs. Read, soprano soloist of Christ Church Cathedral, assisted by Mrs. Ellison. Community singing also proved a pleasant diversion.

Emancipation of Women.
A feature of the afternoon was a demonstration in spinning by Mrs. Henderson, who was introduced to the audience by the chairman, Mrs. Alfred Watt, M.B.E. "As a Shetland woman from the most romantic island in the British Empire," Mrs. Henderson also showed a fine collection of articles of wool gathered, carded, spun and dyed by herself.

Laws For Women.
Mrs. Tyrrell Godman gave a short address on "Laws About Women and Children," and spoke of the relief she experienced, after knowing so much of the injustices of the laws about women and children in England to find that recently such splendid legislation had been passed in British Columbia. She explained the working of the new B. C. Marriage Act, the Mother's Pensions Act and the Testator's Family Maintenance Act and dwelt on the cruel position women had been in before the passing of the Equal Guardianship Act by the Oliver Administration. She said that women in Canada are especially to-day in British Columbia were in so much safer and better position than ever before, and should be grateful to the men who had brought about this great change.

Use the Ballot.
Miss Bell gave a brief address on "The Uses of the Ballot," urging all women to use the vote, to study the questions of the day intelligently, to make up their minds and exercise their judgment after due consideration, but most of all to vote only for good men whom they could trust to carry on the struggles for good legislation. She said she had been amazed on coming to Canada that the Government had enacted all these laws for the protection of women, and continued, "we must have idealists but we must be practical as well and it was a good way to think out the best possible things for the country and then to send men and women to Parliament who would get these things done."

The Liberal candidate, Henry Helgesen, also spoke a few words and in a graceful little speech expressed his appreciation of the good work the Liberal women of Esquimalt were doing for him. He hoped they would remember that it was not so much a question of himself, personally, but as to what government should be put in. He was proud to be a standard bearer for a government which had done so much for the protection of women and children.

Women Needed in Politics
Mrs. Watt, M.B.E. in telling why women were needed in politics, indicated that legislation which had been inspired by the women members of Parliament, Mrs. Ralph Smith, and dwelt at length on the provisions of the Minimum Wage Act and the Juvenile Court establishment. She said that the efforts of such women as Mrs. Speerford and others throughout many long years to obtain the franchise had been at last rewarded by the Liberal Government, but she ventured to think that these reforms would have been enacted—sympathetic as the Liberals had proved themselves—had it not been for the devoted and unselfish efforts of bands of women all over the Province. She said that women were necessary in public life. She went on to enumerate much good that might result and had resulted from the inclusion of women into the public life of the Province and pointed out "the matter lies entirely in our own hands henceforth. We can elect whom we choose. No one has a right to ask us how we are going to vote or how we have voted. The secret of the ballot is a sacred privilege won for us through the blood of martyrs and we should cherish it as such."

Mrs. Watt closed by saying that women even more than men were interested in seeing that stable economic common-sense government remained in power. "There is much more good work to be done and the government must want us loyally at its back. Mr. Helgesen would have to represent the women with just as much care as he represented the men, and the women, constituents would have every right to express to him their wishes and to consult with him as to the best way to carry them out. The problem of the returned man, whether soldier or sailor, was a special anxiety to all women and they would often be the link of sympathy between the soldier and the members of the Legislature. A soldier having been used to quick and direct methods had more faith in the machine gun method or even the bomb as a means of getting what he should every day deny him, but women had other means and perhaps the most effective was in bringing about this most eagerly longed for moment.

"I cannot but feel that our Government, although all has not yet been done, is doing a great deal for us, and we mothers of soldiers and citizens of this great Province."

The women present remained to the close of the meeting and were most appreciative throughout. Desires were expressed on every hand that more meetings of this sort could be held in Esquimalt.

SOLDIER CORDAGE PLANT TO START

Largest Establishment Under B. C. Industries Department Beginning to Manufacture

The B. C. Cordage Plant at New Westminster, the establishment of which is claimed as one of the greatest achievements of the Department of Industries of the Provincial Government, will be opened next Wednesday, according to an announcement to-day by Robert Morrison, Acting Industrial Commissioner.

The plant will employ sixty men, all returned soldiers. It is owned and managed by returned men. Among those financially interested in the project are General Sir Arthur Currie, General Odium and General Turner. Major J. C. Thorne is president.

There has been $300,000 invested in the plant, of which $200,000 has been loaned by the Department of Industries. The returned soldiers themselves put up the remaining $100,000.

Rope of all kinds, from the lightest string up to the stoutest hawser, will be manufactured. The output of the plant will be sufficient to take care of all the requirements of B. C. and enter the export market.

There will be an official opening of the plant on December 2.

B. C. STOCK WINS HONORS AT PORTLAND

Some of the Highest Class Animals of Coast Being Imported

British Columbia livestock took some of the big prizes at the Pacific International Stock Show at Portland, Oregon, according to Prof. W. T. McDonald, B. C. Livestock Commissioner, who returned to Victoria to-day from the Portland show.

Three students from the agricultural faculty of the University of British Columbia won second place in the stock judging in competition with student teams from all colleges and universities of the Pacific Northwest. The Portland show is the largest annual stock show on this continent.

The exhibit of Dorset Horn sheep from the Dominion Experimental Farm at Agassiz won first prize, and one of the championships in competition with sheep from the whole coast. James McCleave, of Victoria, and the Hermann stables of North Vancouver had exhibits that are winning high commendation.

Many British Columbia breeders attending the show are bringing back with them pure bred stock. R. P. McLennan, of Vancouver, has bought one of the Jersey cows, J. O. Game, of Chilliwack, was another heavy buyer of high bred stock, which he will bring to this Province. "I would like to see breeders of this Province take advantage of exhibiting their stock at Portland as it will help to better stock here as well as in the neighboring states," said Prof. McDonald.

Prof. McDonald will leave Victoria to-night for Calgary, where he will judge cattle and the beef competition at the Winter Fair.

ESTEEMED RESIDENT DIED YESTERDAY

Late James L. Armon Well-known in Local Business Houses

Yesterday afternoon, James Law Armon, one of the most highly respected residents of the city, passed to his rest at the home of his daughter, 530 Trutch Street.

The late Mr. Armon, who was in his seventy-third year, came to Victoria about twenty-four years ago. A native of England, he was born at Luttreth, in the county of Leicestershire, on May 25, 1847. After obtaining a good elementary education in his native town, he was apprenticed to the drapery business in one of the best known London houses, where he spent seven years in thorough training. He then came to Canada and accepted a position in Toronto with the firm of W. A. Murray—now Murray-Kay—where he subsequently was given entire charge of the silk department, which he developed to a point of great importance. Later he formed a business partnership under the name of Armon & Floyd, afterwards Armon & Co., and became well known among the business houses of Toronto.

Retiring from business he came to Victoria in 1886 and has lived quietly for several years in his pleasant little residence on Redfern Street, Oak Bay. Used to an active life, however, he was unable to content himself with a life of quietude and employment and so secured certain agencies for eastern houses, and in this capacity was well known and very popular among the business houses of this city.

Mr. Armon was of a most genial and optimistic disposition, always ready with sympathetic and wise counsel. He was a life-long Methodist and during his residence in Victoria has been a member of the Metropolitan Church. He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. Gordon Hicks, of Trutch Street.

The funeral will take place from the Thomson Funeral Parlors at 3:30 on Monday afternoon, the Rev. Dr. Sippell officiating. Interment will be made in Ross Bay Cemetery.

First, Last and All the Time—Victoria is what it is because of the SPIRIT of the people of Victoria.

W. E. PEIRCE TALKS ON BANKING SYSTEM

Makes Allegations Against Chartered Banking Plan of Canada

"If the banks could be compelled to reveal the secrets of their customers it would ruin the banking business."

"Money is rarely employed now in banking. What is charged for is not necessarily given. Something for nothing should be their slogan. The banking system as it is in operation to-day is the most highly developed system of robbery yet devised."

"Not 'state money for the state,' but state money for the money-lenders is the bankers' motto."

"Not until the control of money is taken entirely out of the hands of the bankers and a 'labor' standard established in place of the 'gold' standard is there any chance of humanity getting out of the mess that 'interest' has landed us in."

These were some of the statements made by W. E. Peirce, Federated Labor candidate in the city in his address at the Crystal Theatre last night.

The banking system of Canada, he said, was so highly organized for self defence that the suggestion of any proposed legislation that might affect their interests was known to every bank manager in the Dominion within twelve hours after it was made.

It was not necessary for him to understand all the intricacies of the system to be qualified to judge it, he stated. "It is not necessary to eat the whole of an egg to know it is bad, and the banking system is bad from start to finish and works injustice on the common people while it enriches the few."

It started out with a wrong supposition "that money was a commodity and had an intrinsic value of its own."

In starting a bank all that was necessary was for a few financiers to secure a charter from the Government, deposit a certain amount of securities (supposed to be gold) and proceed to issue about forty times that amount in "promises to pay."

An Attractive Business.
Every dollar of this paper money could be loaned at times over by the system of payment by cheque, so that it was possible for a bank to be making 50 per cent. on its paper money without ever using its real money. Deposits of a certain amount of securities could be used in the same way, so that it was easy to see why it was made attractive and desirable for the public to transact all their business "through the banks," the speaker stated.

The success of the banks depend not on the fact that they have money, but on the fact that they have very little but upon the fact that others are without it, and must get it from them.

The November report of the Canadian Bank of Commerce showed the national debt of Canada has increased $159,000,000 in the last year and now stands at over 2,276 million dollars.

Interest charges on that amount to over 125 millions annually. Every cent of that has to be produced by some worker before it can be paid. Isn't it about time we made a change in our system of finance? he stated.

Banking by the state would obviate all the necessity of having to borrow money or pay interest in any shape or form. Money was never intended to be anything more than a means of exchange. It should possess no intrinsic value but should simply be a receipt for services rendered, redeemable at its face value. It should be issued in just the same way as postage stamps, and cancelled in the same way as soon as it has fulfilled its function.

J. B. McDonald, the other Federated Labor Party candidate, also spoke, and some questions were asked after the candidates concluded.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE WANTS CO-OPERATION

Appeals to Citizens in Interests of Chamber of Commerce

Above the signatures of the sixteen representative business men of Victoria, who are standing behind the Chamber of Commerce campaign, the following letter was sent out to-day to twenty-seven hundred citizens:

"Dear Fellow Citizen: One hundred and fifty representative citizens of Victoria met on Monday morning to interview a selected list of the townspeople of which you are one. These busy men are giving financial aid and their valuable time to presenting the Chamber of Commerce idea to our city. This movement was initiated by the Council of the Board of Trade and has received the endorsement of the City Council and many civic bodies."

"They want to serve you and want you to serve Victoria. This can best be done by a united effort in a non-partisan, non-sectarian organization. "Anticipating your desire to join with all other representatives citizens of our home city in this great work for the future, we hope that you will appreciate the unselfish service these workers are giving and will meet them with a friendly greeting and a favorable response."

"Yours for Victoria,"

"Campaign Executive Committee."

The five group leaders have drawn lots for the sections of the city they will work in. The result was as follows:

Robt. A. Playfair, Division One, has the district bounded by Victoria Arm, west side of Government Street, from Queens Avenue to Fort, and Fort Street to James Bay.

Lincoln Smith, Division Two, has district bounded by Victoria Arm, east side of Government Street, View Street, Yates Street, Quadra Street, Bay Street and out Rose Street.

Gordon Jameson, Division Three, drew the section of the city bounded by Ross Street, Bay Street, Yates

"I don't understand why I should be so tired in the mornings."

"ARE you often that way?"
"Why, for months I have felt wretched every morning. And it is not because I do not go to bed early enough."

"How do you sleep?"
"Not very well. Lots of nights I lie awake for hours, restless and fidgety, thinking about everything, but not resting or sleeping."

"Have you consulted a doctor?"
"Yes. The doctor says I am anaemic; the blood is thin and watery, and the nervous system run down for want of proper nutrition."

"Are you taking any medicine?"
"No, not now; he gave me some tablets to make me sleep, but I had to keep on taking them, and I could not see that they were of any lasting benefit. I don't like drugging myself that way."

"Why don't you try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?"
"I don't know just why, unless it is because I thought it was only for the nerves, whereas what I need is something to enrich the blood."

"Well, that is exactly what Dr. Chase's Nerve Food does. It is only by enriching the blood that you can restore exhausted nerves."

"Perhaps I should try it."

"I certainly would if I were you, for I know it is wonderful the way it helps some people who are anaemic and generally run down in health."

"I have no appetite, you know, and what I do eat does not seem to go to the improvement of the blood. When one gets in that condition it is most discouraging. This is why I have such blue days sometimes, and I do hope the Nerve Food will help me."

"I am sure you will not be disappointed, and if I were you I would not lose a day before getting started with this treatment."

BRIEF LOCALS

St. John's Church.—The Bishop of the Diocese, Rt. Rev. C. D. Schofield, will preach at St. John's Church on Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock service. In the evening, the Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick, will continue his course of sermons on "Studies in the Life of Christ."

Arrange for Dean's Visit.—Final arrangements for the reception of Dean Coleman, of the British Columbia University, who will lecture here on Monday, were made to-day. Dean Coleman will speak under the auspices of Victoria Arts College in the auditorium of the High School on "National Ideals in Education."

Former Victorian Here.—Dr. John J. Miller, formerly residing at St. Patrick Street, Oak Bay, has returned to the city, accompanied by Mrs. Miller and will remain here until March. Since leaving Victoria they have resided in California and other parts of the United States. Dr. Miller was instrumental in establishing the City Labor Bureau here.

To Lecture To-night.—Professor Sage, Assistant Professor of History, at the University of British Columbia, will lecture to-night before the Provincial Arts and Industrial Institute in the exhibition room of the Provincial Fair at 8 o'clock on "The Value of Studying Local History." Members must present their tickets of membership at the door.

Lady Alderson Chapter, I.O.E.—Mrs. E. S. Hasell, the regent, presided at the meeting of the Lady Alderson Chapter, yesterday afternoon, when five new members were elected. Donations were made to the up-keep of soldiers' graves, to the I.O.E. Christmas tree, and to the Girl Guides. The chapter is undertaking the making of a maternity bag to be forwarded to the Municipal Chapter. A new secretary was elected at yesterday's meeting.

New Canteen Staff of G. W. V. A.—The new canteen staff of the G. W. V. A. were appointed last night by a special meeting of the executive, with Comrade Lieut.-Col. Winsby in the chair. Fourteen applications were received, each being carefully dealt with in the most unbiased manner. Present circumstances, married or single, length of time unemployed, and all other factors were discussed. All were most excellent men. After the ballots had been taken the following Comrades were successful: Comrades O'Rourke, Garnett and Clark, who will commence their new duties immediately.

Concert at Esquimalt.—The Ladies Auxiliary to the G. W. V. A. entertained the patients at the Esquimalt Hospital last evening with a splendid musical programme. Rev. W. Baugh Allen was in the chair. The programme opened with a piano duet by Mr. and Mrs. King, after which vocal solos were given by Mrs. Hamlett and Miss Redfern, and Mrs. Bowen-Wootton rendered a piano selection. Mrs. Lewis was general convener, and Mrs. Bowen-Wootton acted as accompanist. All the numbers were enthusiastically received by the patients. The Ladies' Auxiliary will entertain the patients at Craigdarroch on Tuesday night.

Musical Soiree.—An interesting musical event of the season was the "Soiree" given by St. George's School last evening, introducing the new "rhythmic" system of piano teaching devised by Miss Shrapnel. The attendance was large, and Miss Shrapnel was the recipient of numerous congratulations. Among the students taking part the palm must certainly be awarded to Miss Dorothy Francis, who played both violin and piano numbers, one of Vieuxtemps' most difficult compositions for violin being rendered with brilliant artistry, and a Chopin composition for piano revealing in Miss Francis the true "Chopin" touch. Refreshments were served at the close of the programme, after which dancing was indulged in till midnight.

G.W.V.A. Concert To-night.—The regular Saturday night "smoke" will take place at the G.W.V.A. Club, Fort Street, to-night at 8.15 o'clock with Comrade J. Food in the chair. Many excellent turns will be featured. Notable among them will be the well-known comedian, Comrade Potter, baritone; Comrade Brunell, Victoria's most profound bass; Comrade Marshall, comedian and dancer; Comrade Chapman, soloist. Many other excellent turns are billed, and the management will spare no pains to make these concerts the most attractive event for ex-service men in the city. All ex-service men, both soldiers and sailors, are cordially invited.

Parent-Teachers Meet.—There was a large attendance yesterday afternoon at the Parent-Teachers' meet-

"Give Us Evidence and We Will Act" Is Return Message From Calgary

Officials of A. A. U. of C. Do Not Want to Conduct Probe But Are Prepared to Conduct Investigation If Evidence Is Submitted By Frank Patrick; Statements From Everywhere.

Calgary, Nov. 20.—The editor of The Herald has communicated with Frank Patrick, president of the Pacific Coast Hockey Association, in connection with the latter's reiterated charges against the Big Four Hockey League of Alberta with a view to the arranging for the submitting of evidence in proper form. Mr. Patrick is being assured of the keen desire of everybody to help clear matters up and he is being invited to lend every possible assistance to this end.

Leroy Chown, one of the Calgary governors of the amateur union, in discussing the latest development in the hockey investigation, said that evidence is all the Alberta branches of the amateur union has sought to open an inquiry into the charges of professionalism.

Ready To Go Ahead. "We have expressed ourselves unmistakably in that regard," said Mr. Chown. "And now that Mr. Patrick states definitely that he has evidence on ten players and will produce it, I can see that a proper inquiry can be conducted. There is no doubt in my mind, but all governors of the board are prepared to see an investigation carried through if there is evidence to show that any of the Big Four hockey players have infringed on the rules."

At our last meeting, it was the decision of the governors that should charges at any time be substantiated by evidence, the board was prepared to act, and deal with offenders according to the regulations."

Stanley Is Favorable. Dr. G. D. Stanley, M. L. A., one of the Alberta branch governors, is quite in favor of an investigation into any charges that may be laid. "There must be charges and there must also be evidence," said Mr. Stanley.

"We are appointed as public trustees in this capacity and we are to listen in a judicial way to the evidence adduced, but I feel satisfied that the public never intended the amateur governors to go around as 'stool pigeons' and procure the evidence themselves."

Dr. Stanley said that he does not believe anyone has objection to Mr. Patrick making his statements and insinuations, but he does not consider that people can be expected to place much faith in what he says, unless he sets forth specific charges and produces evidence in substantiation.

"It is not necessary for Mr. Patrick or anyone else to put up $1,000 to rouse the amateur governors to action," said the doctor.

They Want Evidence. "Give us the evidence and we will act," said Mr. Stanley.

C. A. Hayden, the other Calgary representative on the board, said that it was his distinct understanding that the board would invite the presentation of evidence, and that it would punish, without fear, favor or delay, any athletes who were proven to have violated the amateur laws. "The good faith of the branch is evidenced by the action it is taking to probe the cases of baseball players in the Central Alberta League, including a number of Calgary and Edmonton athletes, who are accused of taking money for their services last summer," said Mr. Hayden.

Clear Up Situation. "The governors are anxious to act, but first they must have evidence, and if Mr. Patrick presents this he may rest assured that no time will be lost in conducting a competent inquity that will clear up the whole situation."

Lloyd Turner, manager of the Victoria Park Arena, who has taken a keen interest in the Alberta Big Four, said that the league is operating under the jurisdiction of the Amateur Union of Canada, and so far as he knows, it will continue to function as an amateur organization.

Will Not Turn Pro. "As far as I know, there will be no professional hockey league in this province," said Mr. Turner. "The Big Four is operating as an amateur body, and I am satisfied it will continue as such."

J. A. McCaw, president of the Big Four, made the following statement: "Since Attorney General Boyle and the president, Brigadier General McDonald, have given out their statements, Mr. Patrick is fully aware of what course to pursue in order to bring about an investigation of his charges against players in the Alberta Big Four last season."

"The governors of amateur sport in this province are quite capable of handling any inquiry, and as president of the Big Four League, I might state that I feel quite confident the decision of these men would be as prompt, and any investigation by them as thorough as any which might be reached by a judicial inquiry."

A Monetary Challenge. Winnipeg, Nov. 20.—Brigadier-General H. F. Macdonald, president of the Alberta Branch of the A. A. U. of C., while in the city, when notified of the fact that Frank Patrick had deposited $1,000 with The Calgary Herald, the same to be forfeited if he did not substantiate ten charges of professionalism in the Big Four hockey last season, gave his personal opinion that he would not, under any circumstances, accept the monetary challenge. "All that Mr. Patrick need do," declared the general, "is to forward an affidavit to the Alberta branch in respect to one particular case and the most minute investigation will be instituted. It is not a matter of money; it is a matter of principle."

AMATEUR UNION WILL CONSIDER AMENDMENTS

The provincial executive of the B. C. A. A. U. will hold a meeting on Saturday, November 27, at 7 o'clock, in the Foresters' Hall. The chief business to be transacted is the consideration of amendments to the constitution of the A. A. U. of Canada proposed by the Eastern Provinces, also the instruction of delegates to the annual meeting of that body in Winnipeg on December 10.

PRO HOCKEY OPENER SET FOR CHRISTMAS

Hockey Fans Will Be Able to Witness Thrilling Match on Holiday

Vancouver, Nov. 20.—Vancouver and Seattle teams will open the 1920-21 Pacific Coast Hockey Association championship series here on Monday, December 20. It was decided by league officials at the tenth annual meeting held here last night.

The opening was scheduled for one week earlier than originally intended owing to the decision to allocate each club twelve home matches. Only dates for the first three matches were drafted last night. The remainder of the schedule will be worked out at a later date.

For the first time in the history of the game in the West, the P.C.H.A. will stage a "matinee." Seattle and Victoria teams are to play at the Capital on the afternoon of Christmas Day, the game being carded for 3.30 p. m.

The same play-off system in vogue for the past few years will be effective again this season, the teams standing first and second at the close of the schedule playing home and home matches, total goals to count to decide the championship.

The Officers. Frank A. Patrick was re-elected president. Other officers elected include: Vice-president, J. F. Douglas, Seattle; secretary-treasurer, A. J. Small, Vancouver; directors, Lester Patrick, Victoria; C. P. Muldoon, Seattle.

It was decided that in future players may be brought in from outside leagues up to March 1 instead of February 1 as in former years. The only change in the playing rule made at to-night's meeting permits the goalkeeper to play the puck to anyone on his side irrespective of distance, instead of in the first section.

A letter from Cully Wilson, former Seattle player, seeking reinstatement, was read and filed, the directors deciding that the best interests of coast hockey would be served by refusing the application.

West's Needed No Goal Average to Keep Them on Top This Week

According to the standing of the senior soccer league, which was released this morning by Archie Baker, secretary of the Victoria and District Football Association, the Victoria West team does not have to fall back on its goal-average to hang on to the top berth. It has a clear lead of two points this week-end over its hot opponents, the Metropolis. For a couple of weeks these two teams had been holding on to the same total of points, but through the Wests having fared better as goal-getters and defenders they were shoved on top. However, last Saturday the Wests took a trim-ming by defeating the Sons of England.

The Wests showed themselves to be the best goal-getters, having shot nineteen goals in seven games. The Metros are second with fifteen. The G. W. V. A. goalie has been beaten more often than any other in the league, sixteen shots having drifted passed him. The Wests have only had eight drives pass into their nets.

Firemen Are Good. The Firemen still have the advantage in the Intermediate League. Their defence remains well-nigh impregnable. Only six goals have been chalked against them. The Metropolis and Esquimalt teams are on even terms for scoring honors, having notched fifteen tallies. The Garrison goal-tender has failed to stop nineteen shots in four games.

The league standings up to and including games of November 13, are as follows:

Senior League Standing.
	Played.	Won.	Lost.	Drawn.	Goals For.	Goals Against. Points.
Victoria Wests	7	5	1	1	19	8 11

"Y" SWIMMING CLUB PLANS WINTER GALAS

Will Hold One Each Month; Plan to Teach Australian Methods Here

The Y.M.C.A. Swimming Club will hold its annual meeting on Friday, November 26, in connection with this supper will be served at 6.15 p. m. Immediately after supper the meeting will be opened and officers for the ensuing year elected, the Winter programme drawn up, and special features discussed. It is currently requested that members who will attend the supper give in their names to the physical director not later than Thursday evening.

In addition to the regular Winter work that was carried out last year, the Y.M.C.A. intend putting on monthly galas, probably four or five in number, at which all the clubs in the Province will be asked to participate. The first of these galas will take place on the first or second week in December.

Teach Australian Methods. Another departure from the regular Winter routine will be the teaching of the Australian methods of swimming. Interest in swimming circles has been given added stimulus by the visit of the Australian Olympic champions, who made no secret of how they obtain their speed, and they gave unstintingly of the short time they had at their disposal observing and pointing out to the local swimmers the various errors in their strokes.

Altogether, quite a fund of valuable information in regard to speed swimming has been obtained, and this information will be imparted to the "Y" stars by a careful coach during the Winter. Special interest will also be taken in the Junior section of the club, and more attention given to perfecting form than to sprinting practice.

WILLIE HOPPE WANTS MATCH WITH HOREMANS

New York, Nov. 20.—Willie Hoppe, champion bill line billiardist, has issued a formal challenge to play Edward Horemans, European champion, to decide the world's championship. It was announced today. The challenge specifies that the match be played before January 1.

WON LONG BATTLE IN LONDON FROM BASHAM

"KID" LEWIS

London, Nov. 20.—"Kid" Lewis last night knocked out Johnny Basham, former welterweight champion of England, in the nineteenth round of a twenty-round bout.

The bout was for the welterweight championship of Great Britain, which Lewis wrested from Basham three months ago. It was a hard-fought battle and anybody's victory up to the nineteenth round, although Basham was bleeding from a bad ear, but fighting gamely. In the nineteenth round Lewis sent his opponent down for the count of eight, and then, when Basham arose, landed a terrific right to the point of the jaw. Basham went down and was counted out.

LADY GOLFERS ARRANGE FOR TOMBSTONE MATCH

The ladies of the Victoria Golf Club have arranged a tombstone competition for Friday, Nov. 26. This event is expected to prove exceedingly interesting and will no doubt attract the majority of the ladies.

Senators Will Meet Garrison and Elks Will Clash With War Vets at Arena on Opening Night; Big Season Ahead

Amateur ice hockey teams will commence their battles for the city senior championship at the Arena on Monday night, December 6. The four teams will be seen in action. The Senators, last year's champions, will meet the Garrison, the newcomers, and the Elks will hook up with the Great War Veterans. These important decisions were made at an executive meeting the Victoria Amateur Ice Hockey Association held last night.

The schedule for the season will be announced very shortly. It is proposed to play twenty-four games during the season with two games scheduled for each Monday night. This will give each team a game a week. The hours of the games will be from 8 to 9 o'clock and from 9 to 10 o'clock.

Championship Series. It is the hope of the hockey association to arrange a championship play-off series at the end of the season between the first three teams in the league standing. This might result in the leaders being beaten by a lower team. It quite often happens that one team gets away to a flying start while another has injuries or is slow in getting into its stride. At the end of the season the former team may have won the championship but the latter may be playing better hockey and have a stronger team, but owing to the handicap at the start was prevented from getting to the top.

The organizing of the junior league is almost perfected. Three teams have entered and it is likely that a fourth club will be found. The juniors will battle for the O'Brien Cup.

Garrison Look Better. The Garrison clubs have some good news for the hockey draft of the "Princess Pats," which has many good hockey players in its personnel, will arrive here on November 25, according to word received by Major Lundy, president of the Garrison Games Club. The Garrison club has been turning out some likely looking material for the practice hour at the arena lately and with the arrival of the Eastern stars will probably have a septette that will make the other outfits hustle along.

The executive of the association convened with Lester Patrick, manager of the Arena, last night and came to arrangements for playing and practice hours and other pertinent matters.

The executive will hold a meeting next Tuesday evening to pass on the schedule.

EMPRESS BILLIARD HANDICAP FINALS

The Empress billiard handicap has reached the finals. Anderson (r. 75) will play Henderson (scratch) for the championship on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

In the semi-final Anderson (r. 75) beat Lamb (r. 50) by 50 points, and Henderson (scratch) beat Austin (50) by 15 points. Lamb beat Austin in the play-off for third place.

In proportion to handicap Anderson still has the high break with 34. Henderson will attempt to break this on Tuesday night.

The Turkey Trot will start at the Empress on Monday. Thirty-two players have entered and the draw for the first round is as follows: Peden (r. 25) vs. Allen (r. 75). Wilkinson (r. 25) vs. B. Olsen (r. 75).

Ponger (r. 100) vs. Vincent (r. 75). Proctor (r. 50) vs. A. Olsen (r. 125). Jackson (r. 125) vs. Lamb (r. 50). Milbourne (r. 50) vs. Jones (r. 25). Wright (r. 100) vs. Murray (r. 75). P. C. Smith (r. 25) vs. Dyke (r. 100). N. Austin (r. 75) vs. Elmslie (r. 75). H. Smith (r. 25) vs. Allen (r. 125). Goodwin (r. 25) vs. Trimen (r. 75). Austin (r. 50) vs. Ralston (r. 55). Thorpe (r. 50) vs. Sale (r. 75). Anderson (r. 50) vs. Coates (r. 50). Willsher (r. 25) vs. Henderson (r. 25). Stewart (r. 50) vs. White (r. 25).

Mr. Goudas, the owner of the winner of the English St. Leger, expects to have Caligula, by The Tetrarch—Shoot in India, to race at the second meeting in Calcutta, but if it fit on arrival in Bombay, he will race there at the end of the year. After a year in India the horse will return to England to serve at the stud.

There is only one stipulation made by the Coast mogul. He does not want the amateur officials to conduct one of their investigations. He wants a judicial inquiry. Patrick wants all the players who are summoned to give their evidence under oath. He wants to eliminate any chance of being beaten by prevaricators. In a judicial inquiry the Patriots would be represented by counsel and witnesses would be subjected to cross-examination, under which many secrets probably would leak out. In the recent baseball scandal there was a lot of chatter about the world's series of 1919 being thrown immediately the games were finished, but no one could get anywhere with the charges. When the judicial inquiry was ordered and the players were called they told everything. Every man had to come across. They were afraid to keep anything back for fear one of the other witnesses might squeal. Alberta must realize this point. Fans all over the country are pointing a sinister finger at the "Big Four." With all this adverse criticism it is a wonder that the officials of the league do not extend a ready hand to assist in the investigation in order to clear their own names and wipe out a smirch, if there be one, from a fast league.

If the amateur officials in Alberta were really sincere and wanted the situation cleared up, they might set the world right within forty-eight hours. It is a known fact that thousands of fans patronized the games in the "Big Four" last year. The gate receipts reached a high figure. Each club received a good percentage of the gates. If this league is not professional and the players received no money each club's share of the gate receipts, save that absorbed for ordinary expenses, should be in the bank or invested. Why doesn't the amateur union call for the books of the league and of each club and check up the money? If all the money can be accounted for well and good, if it cannot then the union can draw its own conclusions, and act accordingly. Such an investigation would greatly assist in refuting or proving the Patrick charges. Time will not live down these accusations.

LOOKING THINGS OVER

Alberta must act. To defend her enviable reputation as a sporting province Alberta must investigate the charges made by Frank Patrick that the "Big Four" hockey league is corrupt and is a semi-professional affair. Alberta cannot afford to let another hockey season go by without either quarantining or giving a clean bill of health to the "Big Four." Frank Patrick laid sensational charges on the desk of the Attorney-General of that province, but he refused to act. The newspapers called for action, but the only thing done was the hurling of the Patrick by the amateur union to come through with an affidavit. To show that he means business, the president of the P. C. H. A., in reply, states that he is ready to prove that not one, but ten players, accepted money last year. Alberta cannot fail to investigate this latest charge of the Patriots.

There is only one stipulation made by the Coast mogul. He does not want the amateur officials to conduct one of their investigations. He wants a judicial inquiry. Patrick wants all the players who are summoned to give their evidence under oath. He wants to eliminate any chance of being beaten by prevaricators. PRINCESS
The matinee to-day and the night performance will be the last of the cowboy comedy now playing at the Princess Theatre. This bright concoction has been decidedly well received by the patrons of this popular company, and all the players have made the most of their parts. "Boss of Bar Z Ranch" is a play that the kiddies will enjoy, and when they have seen it those who care to may write a letter of criticism and send it to Miss Page, to be placed in the contest. The prize will be given from the stage at the Princess a week from to-day at the matinee. The play chosen to follow the cowboy comedy is "It Pays to Advertise," the big New York success in which Byron Alden played the lead on the road in the States. This play is without a rival for there was never one of its kind to equal it. There is nothing left undone or unsaid which could lend to its vim and brilliancy. This play which has rightly been called a "gem" by critics from coast to coast, will be given careful production and thoughtful study and is sure to afford those attending a treat. "It Pays to Advertise" will begin Wednesday night, November 24, and at the Wednesday night performance each lady attending will be presented

Katherine Macdonald, as the innocent and beautiful Mary Grant, fresh from a Scottish convent, wins the love of a handsome prince at Monte Carlo in "Passions' Playground," the New First Nations attraction, which will be the attraction at the Royal Victoria Theatre for the last time to-night. A cruel falsehood by a former convent chum throws a stigma on the name of Mary and threatens to destroy her romance. She leaves Monte Carlo, seeking refuge in an old French chateau where her prince finds her in time to rescue her from the plot of two adventurers.

DOMINION
Douglas MacLean, who is the star in the Paramount picture, "The Jailbird," a Thomas H. Ince production which will be the feature attraction at the Dominion Theatre today, can boast of a more meteoric career than any other screen star.
Starting on the stage only a few years ago, MacLean played in support of Jane Grey, Olive Tell, Marguerite Anglin, Maude Adams, and Margaret Anglin. Since his entrance into pictures, he had played opposite Mary Pickford, Enid Bennett, Dorothy Dalton, Vivian Martin and Alice Brady.
His first starring vehicle, "Twenty-three and a Half Hours," which made such a tremendous hit that it was universally accorded a place with a half dozen of the leading photo-

PANTAGES
"The Carnival of Venice," one of the most magnificent musical productions in vaudeville to-day, is the stunner offering at Pantages Theatre this week. Seven talented Italian musicians and vocalists headed by Mme. Donatella appear in a programme of song and instrumental music, the setting being Venice at moonlight. No detail has been spared in making the act one of impressive beauty. "Pot Pourri" is the title of another act of exceptional splendor, which includes a tableau, song, dancing and remarkable performances by birds. King and Irwin, two uncrowned kings of blackface comedy, present laughable skit entitled "Countdown Divorces," and there are three other acts on the bill of unusual merit.

COLUMBIA
Frank Mayo is to appear at the Columbia Theatre to-day for the last time in the latest Universal photodrama, "The Red Line," of which so many flattering reports have been heard that local interest in its appearance is quite keen. Holman Day, famous American novelist, is the author of the story, and the direction is by Lynn Reynolds, who supervised the work of Mr. Mayo in "The Brute Breaker," and of Harry Carey in "Overland Red." "The Red Line" depicts the bloodstained road used in smuggling contraband into Canada across the North Maine boundary line. In the story Frank Mayo appears as a government customs officer sent to halt the lawless traffic of the French-Canadian smugglers, and who naturally incurs the hatred of the worst element of the north woods.

VARIETY
There are sharply marked differences between the wrecking of an airplane bearing a bride and groom in a terrific electric storm and the confounding thoughts of convent life in the mind of an emotional young girl suffering from a broken heart. Both, however, are depicted in "Trumpet Island," a special production visualized by Vitagraph with an all star cast. The original story was written by that master of plot, action and expression, Tom Terriss director of the noted production, "Trumpet Island" will be shown at the Variety Theatre to-day for the last time.

"THE LOVE FLOWER"
AT VARIETY NEXT WEEK
In the selection of his players, David W. Griffith, the master of screen producers, has universally used the most excellent care, so as to make his pictures a source of faithful interpretations. No better example of his excellent judgment in the choice of the interpreters for the screen could be cited than in the players presented in his latest masterpiece, "The Love Flower," which United Artists release will be the feature at the Variety Theatre all next week.
Among the players in this unusually dramatic love story of the South Sea Islands are none other than Richard Barthelmess, Carol Dempster, George MacQuarrie, Anders Randolph, Florence Short, Crawford Kent, Adolphe Lestina, William James and Jack Manning.
The one most important thing in casting is the securing of players whose facial expressions can possibly emphasize the characteristics of the part. No one in the entire motion picture field is better qualified for the part of Bruce Sanders, a wealthy young plantation owner, than Mr. Barthelmess, for his very being just typifies the very thing that Mr. Griffith portrays throughout the entire production, and with his world of experience, Mr. Barthelmess gives the character a particularly intelligent interpretation.

HEADACHES
Make Life Miserable.
Headaches are one of the most aggravating troubles one can have, and it is hard to struggle along with a head that aches and pains all the time.
Headaches seem to be habitual with many people; some are seldom, if ever, free from them, suffering continually from the dull throbbings, the intense pains sometimes in one part, sometimes in another, and then again over the whole head.
There is only one way to get relief from these persistent headaches, and that is by going direct to the seat of the trouble, for unless the cause is removed, the headaches will still continue to exist.
The fact that Burdock Blood Bitters keeps the stomach alive and the bowels toned up is proof enough to show that it will eliminate the cause of the headaches.
Mrs. Harold L. Larkin, Owen Sound, Ont., writes: "My system was run down and my blood out of order. I suffered a great deal from severe pains in my head, which made me feel very miserable. After having tried other remedies I purchased a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and was very glad to notice a decided improvement in my health. The cause another and am so glad to say that it has done me an enormous amount of good. I have recommended it to my friends, who were in a similar condition, and they all say it is a wonderful remedy."

WEAK, NERVOUS AND RUN DOWN
A Condition Affecting Thousands of People—How to Get New Health.
There are thousands of people who are enduring the pain and discomfort of minor ills in the hope that the indisposition is only temporary and will be outgrown in time. Often such illnesses are not serious enough to require the attention of a doctor, but will respond to intelligent home treatment if a reliable remedy is used. Women, busy with a multitude of household cares, young women in offices or stores, or girls studying hard in school, easily fall a prey to that condition of bloodlessness known as anemia. The trouble need not be serious if prompt, effective measures are taken to check it in its early stages. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will restore the elements needed to bring the blood back to strength, and once the blood regains its healthy quality the entire body will soon show the benefit. Among the many who have found benefit through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mrs. James J. Johnston, of Peterboro, N. H., who can personally recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills because of what they have done for her. About two years ago I felt poorly, was terribly weak, nervous and run down. I was easily annoyed and worried, and my heart would flutter at the least exertion. I tried several remedies but did not get any better. I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I took seven boxes in all and am now enjoying perfect health, and have gained in weight. I calculate the cost small when I think of the benefit I received, and I recommend the pills to all who are weak.

WILL ORGANIZE
LADIES' CLUB
Meeting to Be Held at Alexandra Club Monday Afternoon
Steps towards the formation of a ladies' club in Victoria will be held at a meeting to be held at the Alexandra Club on Monday, November 22 at 3 o'clock, at which all members of the Alexandra Club and all ladies interested in the project are requested to attend. The organization of the Club along entirely new lines, with a new committee and new headquarters will be the business of the afternoon and the election of officers will be held.
This meeting is the outcome of the meeting held in the Arts and Crafts Club on November 23 for the consideration of the formation of a ladies' club, when a resolution was passed recommending that the Alexandra Club be re-organized with a new committee, new headquarters and under new conditions.

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home
Has no equal for prompt results. Taken hot a moment to prepare, and sets you at ease in 10 minutes.
You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest.
Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.
To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pine in a 16-oz. bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make 16 ounces more than you can buy ready-made for $2.50. It is pure, good and pleasant—children like it.
You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same in both cases—irritation of the inflamed membrane—and this Pine and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness or any ordinary throat ailment.
Pine is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs. Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for 2½ ounces of Pine with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pine Co., Toronto, Ont.

TWO SIDES HEARD
IN SAANICH FIGHT
Mr. Pauline Defends Government and Mr. Gordon Attacks It
F. A. Pauline, Government candidate for Saanich, and Joseph B. Clearius, Government candidate for Victoria, addressed a meeting in Strawberry Vale Hall, Saanich, last night. Both speakers appealed to the audience on the record of the Oliver administration as compared with that of its predecessor. Simultaneously M. P. Gordon, Opposition candidate for Saanich, and J. J. Shallock, spoke at Keating.
Mr. Pauline dealt with the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, declaring that it should not have been built in the first place except on the basis of a promise to earn operating expenses for many years to come. Indeed, it was on account of the P. G. E. blunder, made by previous governments, that the Oliver administration was unable to render further aid to the municipalities, declared Mr. Pauline. "But," he added, "we have good reason to believe that in the near future our revenue will be sufficient to meet all liabilities and we can reasonably hope that next year we will be able to give more assistance to the municipalities than in the past."
Mr. Pauline said that Mr. Gordon, the Opposition candidate, had claimed that the present administration had wasted the way in which it was in difficulties now. Mr. Pauline was not aware of any difficulty which the Oliver Government could not surmount; he was not aware of any difficulties into which the Oliver Government had fallen on account of its 1916 promises; nor was he aware of any promises made then that had not been carried out. They had not been carried out completely, an honest effort had been made to accomplish this result.
Give Government Time.
"If we have not fulfilled every promise there is time for us to ask you to give us that time," he proceeded. "When the Liberal Government took office conditions were such as to appeal the men sent to do the work. We would like to show you what the Liberal administration can do when the handicaps have been removed."
"Mr. Bowser says, 'Let us forget the past; let the dead past bury its dead.' One cannot help wondering at his audacity. The Dominion Trust and P. G. E. scandals alone should be sufficient to bar him from any responsibility in the administration of the Province."
Mr. Pauline quoted figures to refute the claims made by Opposition candidates that the Province to-day was paying a great deal more for its civil service than at the time of the Bowser administration. He added: "Consider the fact that we have had a way of keeping accounts that never did show what anything cost."
Mr. Pauline pointed out that the prosperity of the city of Victoria and district was bound up with industries, and what better development could be secured than by developing the iron ore resources of the island?
Mr. Clearius.
Mr. Clearius showed what the Oliver Government had done for the returned man, repeating the facts which he has outlined at other meetings. "I consider," he said, "that the Oliver Government has done more to re-establish the returned man than any other Provincial Government in Canada."
Mr. Gordon and Mr. Shallock at Keating were asked by the audience of sixty persons a number of questions in regard to assertions they had made in their speeches. Mr. Gordon having referred to the Hon. John Hart's methods of finance, he asked if the borrowing was not absolutely necessary to appease the returned soldiers and settle them on the land, whether the exchange problem would not have existed whatever Government was in power.
"True," answered Mr. Gordon, "but the municipality of Oak Bay would be better in this respect than the Oliver Government has done. These bonds were taken up locally and, although the sum involved was a number of times those in which the Minister of Finance dealt, it was his duty to give the people at home an opportunity to take up the loan if they wished. "Mr. Hart, the speaker pointed out, was now considering, on the eve of an election, the floating of a loan in the Province. If this was possible now, surely it had been within the power of the Oliver Government."

Are you too tired to be effective?

ALL day long demands are being made upon every woman's strength, whether it is the wearing routine of household duties—the exacting pressure of business affairs—or a long round of social engagements—modern life is placing a constantly increasing tax on her energy.

Those who have made a study of fatigue say that when a woman is tired all her faculties are affected,—the heart weakens, the nerves become upset, and the danger of breakdown is threatened unless prompt action to prevent it is taken.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS have proved to be, in hundreds of similar cases, a most reliable remedy for restoring strength and vitality to weakening hearts and relieving all the distressing symptoms brought on by fatigue, excitement or over-exertion.

If you wish to maintain your poise, charm, effectiveness, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will be found to be a very valuable assistant.

Mrs. Fred B. Hayes, St. Stephen, N.B., writes:—"For almost two years I suffered from a weak and nervous condition, and could not sleep at night. I got wonderful results from using your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, as I am now strong and well again."

LOST HIS BET.

In the days when Ireland was a comparatively peaceful country two Englishmen were spending a holiday there. They hired a jaunting-car to drive them from Kilkenny Station to the Club House Hotel and on the way one inquired of the other, "How much will the fare be?"

"Oh! give him as much as you like," was the reply, "and he'll still ask for more. You'll never satisfy a Jarvey."

"Bet you a fiver I do," retorted the first and when they reached the hotel he tendered a sovereign with a grin on his face and the injunction, "Keep the change!"

Feeling distinctly "one-up," he turned to enter the hotel, but was arrested with, "Sure, now, your honor, 'twould be a terrible thing to break a beautiful coin like this for one pot of porter. Does your honor happen to have tuppence in coppers?"

He paid—the tuppence and the fiver!

UNITE TO CRITICIZE MAJOR PARTIES

Soldier-Labor-Farmer Candidates Are Heard at Oaklands School

An enthusiastic audience greeted the Soldier-Labor-Farmer Party candidates at the meeting held last night at the Oaklands School. The four candidates, R. P. McLernan, Thomas Dooley, C. K. Christian and James Dakers, speaking on the general platform of their party.

Pick and Shovel Job.
Mr. McLernan, who has been under doctor's orders not to speak at any great length on account of bronchial trouble, briefly outlined some of the planks of the platform and confined his remarks chiefly to a criticism of "the recent attempt of the Oliver Government to camouflage the issue by an eleventh hour attempt to satisfy the demand of the ex-service men by the offering of a consolation prize in the form of a pick and shovel job on the Songhees Indian Reserve."

The speaker also criticized the Hon. John Hart on his "sudden anxiety regarding the unemployment situation in Victoria." He asked if Mr. Hart was sincere in his protestation regarding the unemployment among returned men and why he had not taken some action when a deputation called on the Cabinet during the last session urging some form of relief for the acute unemployment situation then existing. He said that at that time the best answer the Cabinet could give was that outlined by "that little dude from Prince Rupert" who informed the delegation that if the men they represented could not find work they could get out of the Province.

Hospital Control.
Mr. Dooley, the next speaker, spoke in detail on the subject of Provincial ownership of the hospitals of the Province, pointing out that the health of the community depended upon the health of the children, and as a large number of the children of the Saanich district were proved to be suffering from inanition it was reasonable to expect that a corresponding number of the children of the Province were likewise suffering. Therefore, if a healthy community is to be built up, the sanest way to accomplish this desirable end was by the establishment of a provincial system of ownership and control of hospitals by the province.

Mr. Dooley also spoke in detail on the question of a provincial system, quoting the figures published in The Times yesterday in comparison with Mr. Bowser's proposed per capita tax, proving thereby, he alleged, the benefit accruing to the community by a state control of the educational system.

Criticized Conservatives.
Mr. Dooley briefly criticized Canon Hinchliffe's attitude in connection with his attachment to the Conservative Party, stating that as Canon Hinchliffe had for so many years of his life been preaching the policy of honesty, it was inconceivable for the speaker to understand how the Canon could identify himself with a party with a reputation such as the Conservative Government represented.

Mr. Christian then took the platform and stated in the course of his remarks that as vice-president of the local typographical union he could honestly say he represented the interests of labor, and by virtue of his three and a half years' service in the recent war, he fairly represented the interests of ex-service men.

The speaker criticized the attitude of all parties in usurping the platform of the Soldier-Labor-Farmer interests and in justification of his charge he compared the platform with an editorial in yesterday's Colonist on the subject of Land Settlement. He pointed out the advocacy of that portion of the platform which dealt with providing of explosives at cost price, and stumping machines in the interests of the small farmers.

Mr. Christian then turned his remarks to a criticism of the soldier candidates of the two major parties, claiming that the two nominating conventions of these parties had been "stacked" in order that each party might use every effort to place a returned man on their respective tickets.

The speaker stated that Canon Hinchliffe, at a meeting at the Alexandra Hall, had said that he was out for "a little bit more than a square deal for the ex-service men." Mr. Christian stated that the ex-service men did not want any advantage over their fellow-citizens. They did not want even "the little bit more." All they ask for is the square deal. If they get that they will be perfectly satisfied to take their place in society," he said.

Doors Were Opened.

Mr. Christian also stated that the doors of the Grand Army of United Veterans had at all times been open to both Canon Hinchliffe and Mr. Clearhue, and he took this opportunity of stating publicly that if Canon Hinchliffe and Mr. Clearhue really had the interests of the returned men at heart they would have joined the Grand Army of United Veterans and undoubtedly would have received the nomination at their open convention, but as they chose to attach themselves to the two respective party machines it was inconceivable for him to understand how they could serve the interests of ex-service men in general by this method.

The speaker referred to the alleged mis-statements conveyed in the publicity of the Liberal party. In his criticism he referred to the published statements of Delbert Young, Dr. Hamilton and Mr. Glendon, as grossly misleading, and stated that all service organizations throughout the Province heaped a plethora of anathemas on the heads of these gentlemen in refutation of their "grossly erroneous statements."

In conclusion of his address the speaker referred to the great combination of the three forces they represented and stated that if the citizens had their own interests at heart there would be but one course for them to pursue on the first of December.

James Dakers.
James Dakers reviewed the formation of the Soldier-Labor-Farmer Party and the reasons for its coming into existence. He did not think it necessary to introduce himself as he felt that the majority of those present were personally known to him. Mr. Dakers gave a general review of present conditions and drew to the attention of the audience the faulty legislation that had come under his notice, particularly the Mechanics' Lien Act, referring to the weakness in the clause which stated that the Act did not apply to "anyone earning over five dollars a day."

He stated that the Act did not protect the workers as intended when passed. Referring to the Infants' Act, Mr. Dakers said that the legislation was taken from the old Roman law and no effort had been made to change it by any of the previous British Columbia Governments. The part taken exception to he quoted as follows: "Every apprentice shall, during the term of his apprenticeship faithfully serve his master, shall obey all his lawful and reasonable commands and shall not absent himself from his service day or night without his consent."

Expert Absolves Efficient Mechanism; Often Blamed For Accidents

GIVING THE RIGHT STEER

The steering gear, what it is, how it works and why it is not responsible for many of the things charged against it, is dealt with in this article. It is the sixth of a series published every Saturday by the Times.

When you read of an automobile accident and it says "the steering gear went wrong" put it down in your little notebook that the writer may have been honest but the man who gave him the information was not. It was the steerer that went wrong, and, like most folks, he tried to pass the buck on to the steering gear, which could not talk back.

Steering gears do not "go wrong" in the sense meant in the average use. The steering gear is one of the most dependable parts of the car. It will go right 99 times out of 100, unless the driver prevents. Of course, neglect and wear will make it work inefficiently but this is not enough to cause accidents without the human element.

No part of the car has more attention from the automobile engineers than the steering gear. In the early automobiles it was very simple. There was a handle bar attached to an upright shaft on the lower end of which was a crank, and there was a rod from the end of the crank to the steering knuckle. The handle bar was slowly in those days, and this worked after a fashion, although on rough roads it took an athlete to keep the car straight, because every rut or bump sent a shock to the handle bar.

The first step of importance was the introduction of a beveled gear wheel and quadrant which absorbed a large part of this shock, but was not refined enough for the increasing speed of the cars. It was possible still for the shocks to be imparted to the steering wheel and it required a pretty firm grip with both hands, except on very smooth pavements. Even then it was unsafe to take much risk.

With the present worm and gear, worm and sector, or worm and nut or block arrangements, practically all the road shock is eliminated. In fact, it is perfectly possible on a smooth straightaway road to let the car run itself if the speed is not too high. Again the front wheels are slightly tied in, giving a pressure on either side which tends to keep the wheels going straight—the principle being exactly like that of a boat where the water pressure is equal on each side of the prow.

It is irrevocable. Although it is easy for the worm to turn the gear the gear cannot turn the worm. It may impart more or less of the shocks incident to turning, if there is too much play through wear or bad adjustment. But it is not subject to troubles which would make it deliberately steer the car into danger. With reasonable care the only break likely to occur are those met in the accident and not before.

The steering gear usually consists of a hand-wheel mounted upon a shaft running within a tube. This is connected to the dash and to the frame of the car. On the lower end of the shaft is a worm gear with retaining and adjusting nuts, the latter sometimes being on top and sometimes underneath. Whether it be a gear or a sector or the nut, the action is substantially the same.

Turning the worm moves the gear or nut and thereby an arm. This arm or lever is attached to a rod known as the drag link by a ball and socket bearing. The other end of the drag link is attached by a similar bearing to an arm projecting from the steering knuckle. Moving the hand wheel moves the gear, the lever moves the drag link and the drag link moves the steering knuckle. It is as simple as it sounds. The front wheels are connected by a tie-rod attached to each steering knuckle, making them work in unison.

As before stated, about the only trouble to which the steering gear is subject is wear and looseness due to poor adjustment. Thus the steering wheel may possibly become loose where it is fastened to the shaft at the top. This usually means simply tightening up the retaining nut, but it may mean that the keyway has worn or there is some other wear which must be taken up. The adjusting nut for the steering column may need to be tightened slightly. It should be remembered in making the adjustments that the parts need to move freely, but without undue play.

Adjusting for Wear. With the gear and sector arrangement in time there will be wear, which comes all in one spot. Usually the gear is set on an eccentric shaft and by loosening the set screw it may be moved around to take up play. If it is very bad it may be necessary to loosen the shaft from the lever and turn it round a quarter or half turn, so that the wear on the worm comes in another place. But if these parts are kept properly lubricated the wear will be minimized.

hold—begin at the front wheels to check up the slack or lost motion. Jack up the front wheels and, moving them by hand, see if there is undue play in the knuckle pins. If so, it may mean that a bushing must be put in to stop the wheels from wobbling. Then inspect the bearing where the drag link is attached to the knuckle. Moving it by hand will usually determine whether there is an excess play. Some of these bearings have an adjustment for taking up lost motion.

Do not make the mistake of adjusting too tight. If there is no adjustment it is usually cheaper to buy a new ball and socket bearing. The similar bearing at the rear end of the drag link should also be inspected. If the lost motion is not discovered by this time examine the gear or sector to see if the wear is here. Have someone turn the steering wheel slightly, and observe whether the gear starts to work at once and adjust until there is almost no play between the worm and the gear teeth. When making adjustments be sure to replace all lock nuts and cotter pins and inspect the entire gear regularly to see that they are in place.

It's a Bad Steer. The owner who is unfamiliar with the steering gear after such an inspection will have a very wholesome respect for this important bit of mechanism and will not be very likely to complain, after an accident, that the steering gear "went wrong." Of course it is human nature to pass our own failings on to someone or something else. But common honesty in most cases will compel the admission that it was not the steering gear but the driver himself who had been at fault.

So well is this understood by the knowing ones to-day that the claim that the steering gear went wrong is apt to excite a smile of derision, and even the traffic policemen are learning to look with suspicion on any such claim. Therefore, whether we will or no, the steering gear is pretty apt to be vindicated and the driver who blames it will be under suspicion.

OBJECTS OF LOCAL CLUB ARE OUTLINED

Victoria Automobile Club Is Out After Members and Good Service

The Victoria Automobile Club is an organization which should commend itself to every owner of an automobile in the City of Victoria and district, says Secretary R. R. Webb. It is interested in all matters pertaining to motoring, and judging from the achievements of like organizations in other districts, its formation is fully justified. Motoring now is so general and so important that the association of those interested is necessary from a standpoint of protection alone.

Sound Legislation. Legislation, civic and provincial, affecting motorists should be carefully supervised by those interested. This cannot be done by individuals and experience elsewhere has shown that through the efforts of an organization of like kind, results desired have been obtained, to the great benefit of motorists. It is the intention of this Club to become closely allied with the automobile clubs in the Province, more especially in connection with Provincial legislation. It will readily be seen that this co-operative effort on the part of motorists of the whole Province will be of great assistance to the Government in framing just and equitable legislation.

Good Roads. Every car owner in Victoria and district is interested in good roads. The upkeep of our present roads as well as the construction of new roads is of vital importance to us. Motorists are taxed for this purpose and now an additional tax is to be levied on automobiles to carry out an extended programme along this line. Motorists then should have a voice in the spending of this money, and who are better qualified to assist the Government in its road programme than those who use the roads? Again this cannot be done by individuals, but representation backed by a big membership will undoubtedly carry great weight and will assure success.

Service. Information service to the visiting motorists will undoubtedly result in increased touring on the island. Increased touring means increased business for every one.

Information service to the member when touring in other parts is a courtesy gladly extended by other clubs with which this organization will be in close touch. Your badge or card entitle you to this and assures you a welcome.

Other Benefits. There are a great many other matters which might be mentioned as being of great interest to a car owner, such as: Personal transportation. Elimination and proper marking of danger points. Safety first campaign. Better parking regulations. Better speed regulations. And last, but not least—Giving good clean desirable publicity to the club.

It is out to get results and the greater the membership the greater the results. Don't stand back and enjoy the better conditions which will be brought about by the efforts of the Club without extending your support.

"Well, Augustus," said a grocer to his apprentice, "you have been with me three months, and have seen the several departments of our trade. I wish to give you a choice of occupation." "Thank you, sir," "Well, now, what part of the business do you like best, Augustus?" "Shuttin' up," said the boy, "I like that best."

WHERE HIGHWAY SKIRTSTHE WATER—CAMERON LAKE

The Victoria Automobile Club is urging the conservation of timber growth along the scenic highways of Vancouver Island, the Cameron Lake section being particularly noted in this connection. During the Summer just passed a class of graduate students in ecological botany for the University of Chicago toured Vancouver Island and Washington. In the latter State they noticed that the splendid stands of timber were becoming more and more removed from the traveled highways.

One of the party, writing to 'the Victoria and Island Development Association' said: "We found Vancouver Island very fortunately situated in this respect, especially in possessing a very fine forest at the West end of Cameron Lake, through which passes the road to Alberni, already one of the main highways of the Province. This forest contains large percentage of Douglas fir of large size and perfect form. There is a noticeable absence of over-mature trees, showing that the stand will continue to improve for at least another century. The uniformity of the stand, the size and vigor of the trees, the absence of over-mature or diseased timber, and the unbroken character of the canopy, combine to make it a forest decidedly to any superior to any seen in Washington.

"This condition of youthful maturity presents the most beautiful and attractive phase of this type of conifer forest, admittedly the most magnificent in the world. Taken in connection with the closely adjacent Cameron Lake and Mount Arrow-smith, it constitutes one member of a group of attractions which cannot easily be surpassed or even duplicated. The wonderful perfection of the forest, the splendid vista as the road winds about the adjacent lake, revealing landscapes unsurpassed even by the wonderful Columbia Highway and the fascinating ascent of the mountain at once suggested that the region should be made a public park in order to ensure its permanence."

SENSELESS DRIVERS CAUSE OF ANNOYANCE

Use of Cut-out and Reckless Speeding Too Prevalent

Complaint has been made to the City Police respecting the senseless habit indulged in by some motor drivers of using the cut-out while driving at an excessive speed. In one part of the city a certain driver makes it a regular practice of driving furiously down some of the most prominent residential streets during the night hours when most respect-able people are in bed asleep using the cut-out continuously and awakening everybody along the route.

Needless to say, a man who would indulge in this sort of a practice has no consideration whatever for his fellow-being and when he is caught, as he surely will be, if he continues the practice he must expect an example will be made of him.

With the Winter season coming on there is more need than ever to observe all the rules of the road and to drive properly. It is quite easy for a motorist to sit in his upholstered seat and fall into the habit of forgetting that there are others in the world besides himself. It is when pavements are wet and slippery that most of the accidents occur and for that reason extra precautions should be used.

Some drivers have been known to amuse themselves by creeping up on pedestrians and suddenly sounding the motor horn in order to witness their jump. This sort of thing means risking broken bones and possibly injuries that would cripple a person for life. It costs nothing to be considerate and cautious and it is up to the motorist to make motoring popular with the people who are not fortunate enough to own a machine.

Fast driving on "skidish" pavements is a risk that no man should take, if not in his own best interests, then in the interests of the general public who are entitled to protection at all times.

THE RUBBER SITUATION

The view of several English rubber company chairmen, according to The London Daily Mail, is that a demand for rubber will come when the present abnormal time is over. "The plight of continental exchanges, the overstocking of American manufacturers and low production of British and foreign factories are the main causes for the low level of prices of the commodity, complicated by the increasing use of heavier taxation prospects. Experts point to the demand that will presently come from depleted Europe, especially Germany, and predict that a shortage will occur by 1924, basing their opinions upon the present production of rubber plus the increase figured on past experience. Against this they put the constantly increasing use of rubber, chiefly in automobile and truck tires. This will probably result in extended planting in the Far East and possibly in the Philippines."

Parent—"And so you made Jimmie and Willie stop fighting, did you?" "I'm glad to see that my boy is a peacemaker. What did you do to separate them?" Son—"Well, it was this way. Jimmie was getting ticked off, so I just sailed in and patted Billy on the head when I had done with him he didn't feel much like stoppin' and havin' it out with Jimmie."

GASOLINE PRICES MAY DROP SOON

Opening of Russian Fields Will Reduce Call For Exports

New York, Nov. 20.—In line with all other commodities, the price of gasoline may tumble also. And at the time for readjustment of prices in the oil industry is not very far distant, according to oil men. Motorists who have been looking for a drop in the price of "gas" may have their hopes realized any day now.

The Wall Street Journal, commenting on the situation says that sentiment among oil men is becoming more widespread that oil prices must give way in the general readjustment which is now under way. This belief is partly psychological, resulting from the spectacle of falling prices in other lines. There is only one factor which might disturb the oil market to a more serious degree than is now indicated by any of the normal trade indications, says the same journal, and that would be the opening of the Russian fields. It is understood that negotiations have been under way on the part of Standard Oil and Royal Dutch interests to secure Russian oil.

A Kidney Remedy

Kidney troubles are frequently caused by badly digested food which overtaxes those organs to eliminate the irritant acids formed. Help your stomach to properly digest the food by taking 15 to 30 drops of Extract of Roots, sold as Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, and your kidney disorder will promptly disappear. Get the genuine.

What The Experts Say

Speaking broadly the proper use of tire chains under conditions when their use is highly desirable does not injure the tire.

To be more specific, it is not wise to keep chains on tires continuously when driving over brick or concrete roads.

But when driving on dirt roads when they are muddy or on pavements when they are coated with snow and slush, chains sink into the soft road surface and give positive traction without the slightest injury to the tire. If they are loose enough to constantly change position.

Chains clamped tightly to the tire so they continually press in one position soon will cut into the soft rubber of the tire or at least will weaken the tire's structure materially. But there is no danger of this if the chains are correctly put on.

Dirty oil is injurious to an engine. It also means worn oil, which has been used too long and needs replacing. Once a week for the more used, parts is not too frequent. The bearing on the ignition unit, the armature bearings of the lighting generator and starting motor should be oiled as directed by the manufacturer.

Carelessness in replacing manifolds so that the small gasket collars do not make airtight joints is a cause of trouble often overlooked.

CANADA'S MILITIA AIR FORCE TRAIN

Camp Borden Classed as Premier Flying Camp of Empire

An interesting article on the Camp Borden air training centre appears in the current issue of the "Canadian Motorist," which says: "To continue in peace the aerial supremacy won by Canada during the war is the ambition of Canada's Air Board. Not only is this hope, a soaring one, of course, but Commander A. K. Tyle, Commander-in-Chief of the new Canadian Air Force, Major J. Willenden and others have reason, and reasons, for the faith that is in them."

Once more does Camp Borden put its face with life. But no longer is it a case of "dust thou art, to dust thou shalt return." The "dust" or sand of the war-time Camp Borden did some of the best that grew upon it. Sir Sam Hughes wouldn't be even half-smothered to-day if an army were to shuffle its feet—as it happened once.

Viewing the camp to-day, the aviation dream of the Air Board did not appear too visionary. Substantial signs promised realization. A ten-million-dollar "plant," including "the finest aerodrome in the world," or, as Major Williams modestly put it, "one second to none." At least one hundred machines were ready, with many others still unpacked. Then, to stir the blood, captured German craft were seen. A Gotha that had bombed London and had been shot down later was significant of Germany's world-conquest.

CONSERVATIVES TAKE PRIZES

Candidates Address Audience at Margaret Jenkins School Last Night

"When I joined the Conservative forces in this election I admit I owe an allegiance to that party, but I owe a greater allegiance to the cause of truth, righteousness and justice," stated Canon Hinchliffe in closing his address to the Conservative meeting in the Margaret Jenkins School last night. In all three of the Conservative candidates gave addresses, Canon Hinchliffe, R. Ross Sutherland, and ex-Mayor Alex. Stewart. Harold B. Robertson also spoke. The chair was taken by W. H. Bullock Webster.

"When I joined the political forces I intended never to cast a slur on anyone, and I was told that you could not win an election unless you adopted the methods of your opponents. I want to say right now that if that is so I have lost this election already," continued Canon Hinchliffe.

Repudiates Insuendo. "When my nomination was published the Liberals and their paper tried to infer that my nomination had been against the wishes of the returned men, and stated that I had held interviews with several bodies of returned men, who had demanded that I explain my actions. That was not the case, and as far as I know I have the support of the returned men in this election. Until I discover who started that rumor I am not going to answer any questions."

Later at a meeting that I called at my own initiative I asked these returned men who were stated to want an interview to step forward, and not one came. Ladies and gentlemen, no such interview was held and no explanations were asked of me, as so stated.

"Mr. Hart has been asking questions as to my knowledge of certain matters that occurred during the war period, and I admit that my knowledge is not very complete on these points, I was overseas in France at the time they occurred."

By Strong Arm. Canon Hinchliffe went on to deal with what he termed the Oliver manifesto, and stated that the Liberals need take no credit for what they had done for the returned men, as the only time that anything had been done was when the massed men of Victoria went to the Parliament Buildings and gave the Government 14 hours to do as they were asked.

On the other hand, he stated, much had not been done, and many widows and cripples, suffering from the terrible losses of the war, were still in dire want. "The $100,000 that was spent in holding the prohibition referendum at a separate time to the election, could have been used to buy little businesses for the crippled men," he said, in closing.

Ex-Mayor Stewart, in addressing the gathering, dealt mainly with the question of finances, and scored the Liberal Government on raising money in loans outside of the province. Thirty-five millions had been raised in the province for the last Victoria stated, and that could have been done again. He also stated the government alleging that it had shown an utter disregard of the municipalities, and had collected increased rates of exchange, sources of taxation, of which the cities received not one cent.

The recent loan floated in New York, would cost the country some eight per cent, with the current rate of exchange, he stated, and the money could have been raised in the province at a more advantageous rate.

Smash the Machine. Mr. Brewster's watchword was "smash the machine," he continued, "but the Liberal Government is the biggest machine that we have ever seen, and its headquarters is in Vancouver. The system of tenders is the only fair way of doing business," continued the speaker, "but in the insurance on the P.G.E. the firm of Gillespie, Hart and Todd got over $2,000,000 insurance, while Mr. Hart was still a member of that firm, and their bid was not the lowest."

"If I were Mr. Hart, like Caesar's wife, I would have remained above suspicion, and not touched that insurance."

Ross Sutherland, in his address dealt mainly with municipal relief and gave the promise of the Conservative party that this relief would be forthcoming when we are elected. Mr. Sutherland spent some time in explaining to the meeting that he was no relation of Mr. Hugh Sutherland of Winnipeg, whom he said, the Liberals had been trying to connect his name. He also stated that Mr. Hart had made false statements about him in the connection of the Conservative nominations, which he was alleged to have "packed" by the use of cars. In pointing out the plight of municipalities, the speaker made extensive use of the recent tax sale in the city when $4,000,000 worth of property had been reverted to the city.

He advocated the formation of an Industrial and Labor Bureau, the first to foster confidence in outside capital, and the second to secure the co-operation of local labor with the capital, to the end that outside money could be attracted in industries to this country. He claimed the government had lost $100,000 by not holding the prohibition referendum at the same time of the elections, "which they well knew were coming off in December."

A Question of Credit. In his address Mr. Robertson confined his attention mainly to what he termed the "Oliver Manifesto" and stated that the Government could take little or no claim to credit for the Privy Council cases, which he stated had been morally won by the Bowers administration. The Liberal Government had endeavored in the last term to pass legislation for the benefit of the women, solely with the idea of vote catching, and that the Mothers' Pensions, Adoption, Wives' Maintenance, and other acts had all been forestalled by ground work done by the Bowers administration when it had been in office. The meeting lasted two hours, and about 120 people were present. The

LEADER OF OPPOSITION RENEWS ALLEGATIONS

"When they took office they engaged auditors to look into all our work. It cost the people $18,000 for that Price Waterhouse audit and report. The report was never tabled. I got a copy, but there was not a charge in it of condemnation of my Government or showing that a single dollar had been misappropriated."

"When you think of that time when we were all speculating in real estate that $100,000,000 went through the hands of the civil servants of this country and not a single dollar went astray, then it is to the credit of the officials of the Government who had the handling of it."

Gives Municipal Policy. Dealing with the issue of aid to municipalities, Mr. Bowers asserted that to this day we have never seen the report of the municipal committee of which the Hon. John Hart was a member and which went through the financials, they have never tabled it in the Legislature and they have never given it to the public.

Mr. Bowers' policy towards the municipalities is to take the profit from the sale of liquor, from the moving picture tax, from licenses, the poll tax, the personal property tax and put them into a consolidated revenue fund and then each year forward to each municipality a per capita grant," Mr. Bowers went on. "Once your municipal taxes are reduced from this fund, you are able to see a value in your property and pay your taxes."

Not Agitating Soldiers. "As far as returned soldiers are concerned, we have ten Conservative candidates to take the profit from the front line and every one of them has the wounds of battle."

"Mr. Oliver says I am going around agitating the returned men. Since I have felt it my duty to go through this Province to become familiar with its affairs, I have never visited a returned soldier area to

URAEIA FOLLOWS KIDNEY DISEASE

Dreadful perils lurk in kidney weakness.

Indiscretely it develops into Bright's Disease and Uraemic poisoning. Through the system it sweeps with fatal effect, causing dropsy, gout, gravel and jaundice.

Many remedies contain alcohol. In consequence they inflame the disease to further fury.

A proper remedy will soothe and heal the kidneys, giving the strength and nourish them back to health.

Such a remedy is Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are composed of simple vegetable extracts and juices that are absorbed at once by the kidneys.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills heal and cure the diseased tissues, restore healthy action, and allay congestion and inflammation.

Proof is abundant, and here is quoted the experience of Mr. Patrick McDonald of 235 Kent Street, Ottawa.

"My back ached from morning till night. Every bit of work I did made me weak and worn. I couldn't stoop or lift without getting dizzy. My tongue was furred and my appetite poor. My head ached continually, and I had severe urinary disorder. My kidneys were in the worst possible state. I heard of the wonderful Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and proved them just the medicine I needed. Why I felt better in a week, and after using these pills for a month or two at regular intervals I was completely restored."

Dr. Hamilton's Pills give complete relief because they act directly on the diseased tissues of the kidneys. Get the genuine in yellow boxes, 25c. per box, or five boxes, for $1.00, at all dealers. Refuse a substitute.

which I have not been invited by the president of the G. W. V. A. They send for me because they are desperate over the treatment given them by this Government.

Settlement Failure.

"This Government has spent $2,600,000 on what they call their land settlement work and last year they had to admit that they had succeeded in putting only 67 new settlers on the land. In the Courtenay area they have spent $750,000 and there is not yet a single soldier who has received title to his land. Why is the Oliver Government afraid to tell them what their land is going to cost them? The Government's expenditure has been so extravagant that they are afraid of a revolution."

There is no body of men in this Province looking forward to December 1 with more eagerness than the returned soldiers in this area, as they are going to strike for a new Government.

Plans for Returned Men. "It is shameful in the Merville settlement where the returned men and their families are living in little shacks with tar paper roofs hoping against hope."

"We have a policy for returned men these settlements. Within 30 days after we take office all this restlessness will disappear from the soldier areas of this Province. We will appoint three good men and have the returned men to name a like number from each district and let them discuss each allotment of land and what the soldier thinks it is worth to buy it and repay the Government in 10, 15 or 20 years."

Expect Perfect Satisfaction. "We will not take into consideration what it has cost to clear the land, as that would be like hanging a man around the soldier's neck. We will not ask a single soldier to sign an agreement unless he is satisfied that he is getting the land at a fair price. All these obnoxious clauses will be removed from the agreements."

The loss we will have to charge up to the incompetent administration of the Oliver Government. If we are returned to office and make these arrangements in thirty days, I hope never to hear from these men again, as they will be so well satisfied."

Afraid to Show Bill. Taking up the liquor question, Mr. Bowers declared that a moderation bill has been drafted in the Attorney-General's office and printed.

"But the Government is not the courage to bring it before the Province," Mr. Bowers went on. "They are afraid of the people and say they are going to leave it to the men of the Legislature. But when the new Legislature meets, I hope members will have no more idea of the people's ideas of this bill than the Legislature which has been dissolved."

It is only an excuse of getting away from the question.

Want Only Decent B. C. "What the people want is not a wide-open British Columbia, but a decent British Columbia and that is what the Government should give them. I would purchase liquor that would be sold to the manufacturer and cut out the middleman. I would have to increase our stores. Every man and woman who goes in there should have the knowledge that they are getting the very best possible liquor for the cheapest price."

"Then I would go to work and draft a bill which would not be an extreme bill. You must have legislation that the people will approve of and help you to legislate. I would draft a bill that would not lean to extreme wet or dry. Once we have got a good act, we want rigid enforcement. For the next year or two we will be in a tight spot."

Some Well-Digging. "When I brought up the question in the House, Mr. Oliver said that Mr. Hughes was a most respectable citizen," Mr. Bowers went on. "Well, you all know about Mr. Hughes now."

Mr. Pooley also said that Chinese were also employed on Griffiths R. Hughes' Fronged Farm at Cobble Hill when it was operated by the Government for the training of returned soldiers.

construction men, not alone in British Columbia but in Canada. Even those councillors who voted against his retention paid tribute to the excellent and economical manner in which he had conducted his road work and operations. The taxpayers have watched this move on the part of the councillors very closely for a reason, for the supervision, and I fancy the taxpayer will make their displeasure felt at the next municipal election. Mr. Taxpayers cannot help but admire the manly stand of Councillor Dooley and his supporters in this phase of action, and Sanich is fortunate in having a man of Councillor Dooley's stamp to represent them.

Whist on this question I cannot help expressing not only my own views, but the views of a large number of Victoria taxpayers, and it is to the effect that whilst not endorsing all the Labor-Soldier platform Councilor Dooley has shown himself bigger than the big politicians. Aggressive and fair in his conclusion, of sound business tact, honest in his motives, a strong desire to help in the uplift of humanity, a straight and square man, he should be supported in the present political contest.

LETTERS

Letters addressed to the Editor and intended for publication must be short, and legibly written. The longer an article the shorter the chance of insertion. All communications should be addressed to the Editor, and not to the publisher, unless the publisher is the owner of the paper. The publisher is not responsible for the return of letters.

THANKS MISS PAGE.

To the Editor:—Please allow me space in your paper in which I wish to thank Miss Mildred Page on behalf of the employees of the British American Paint Co. for her kindness in inviting the children of the Protestant Orphanage to the Princess Theatre last Saturday afternoon.

As a patron at this same performance I know the little tots, thoroughly enjoyed themselves, and much credit is due Miss Page for her kindness and thoughtfulness in helping to cheer the hearts of those who without invitations would be unable to attend a show. In closing I would like to add that the Mildred Page Players are giving us first-class productions which are clean and wholesome, and I sincerely hope Victorians will do their best to keep them with us.

OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO WOMEN IN THE HOME

Thrift or Parsimony

This is not meant as a denunciation of thrifty, honest people, but just to bring to our notice some of the follies, pet economies, and subterfuges so many strictly honest and economical persons resort to.

Parsimony, slovenliness, nigardliness, soon become habits. It is rather remarkable what little means, thefts, evasions, really honest (?) folk descend to.

Paper and String Habit
Now, you, personally, are above all this of course? But in your effort to be economical did you ever do this?

Your pet economy is saving up every little scrap of string and wrapping paper. When you wish to mail a parcel you tie it up to your entire satisfaction and are very wrathful when hubby takes it to pieces and rewraps it. He tells you it is not "fit looking" to go through the mails. True, you know, and together little bits of twine and used scraps of paper (to save your big pieces—your future use), spending a few minutes of time (not a single minute you reiterate) to do some useful thing added to you?

This string and paper is intended to be a symbol of the many little unnecessary and really wasteful would-be economical things you do.

Unavailable Moments
Save things, of course, but not to extreme measures. Is there any real reason why you should do actual mental labor about the house? You husband and sons are making good wages; they want you to hire the heavy work done.

One day you fall in a mad rush to get a lot of work off; are laid up for ten days, and a doctor's bill to pay. You resent the "We told you to get some one to help you—now see what you've done" (people ungrammatically under these circumstances—another good reason why we must not carry economy to extremes).

You hard working woman! Of course you are honest in intent, but you are practically not. You are collecting "unpleasant" interest on your health, the peace and happiness of your entire family. There may have been a time when it was necessary for you to slave. Not now. You've gotten in the habit. Are you being strictly honest, sensible?

When your husband reproaches you for overworking do you come back at him with something like this:

"You opened another man's newspaper and read it before he even saw it. You took a magazine belonging to your employer's wife and kept it two days before laying it back on his desk. The day it rained you picked some one's umbrella and it's still here at the house; also a raincoat borrowed (?) several weeks ago."

Your husband is a strictly honest man, you must admit this, but why, oh why, will he do these things?

A few years ago there was a form of thievery known as "swiping." It was considered a joke by many honest people. A lawyer of good social standing and business integrity "swiped" several articles from a hotel. He thought it was rather clever to do so. There are still people who "swipe" soap, towels and other things—but they are honest!

There are certain girls who do not hesitate to confiscate your new music from the piano-rack. They say they will return it at once. Next time you hear of its being played in some other neighbor's house. These honest borrowers are very generous with other people's possessions.

Ragged Edges
There is a certain thrifty woman who keeps up such a good household that people who buy milk of her sometimes fear being drowned in the excess water she dilutes it with. Her pounds of butter are emaciated—as to weight not price.

The other day in a coal-mining town a coal corporation advertised races, carnivals and other amusements, and "free lunches." It developed however that the "lunches" all had to be paid for. The owners of the mine do a lot of uplift work. They considered it only a clever ruse to charge for the "eats" and the money gained thereby was used for a charitable purpose. But wasn't it rather a jumbled idea of honesty? The eyes of honesty are growing dim!

FURNITURE OLD AND NEW.

Money is certainly the root of all evil when you haven't any—and all praise to the maid and man who dare face the world together without much to depend upon but his salary and her faith and the will of both of them to find a way.

One of the greatest problems that they face is the furnishing of their home, however tiny it may be. Furniture costs money—odds of it—and the bare fixtures are unbelievable unless you have been a shopping for yourself and priced "just a little cheaper" or a "perfectly plain bed" or so forth and so on. With everything else their cost has risen, and it is no wonder that it becomes a puzzling task—this selecting only the things that one must have.

But, after all, the puzzle is soluble. The American girl has found more than one means to the end, and she gets together enough "sticks" to make a home out of the house in the way that seems best to her, and it is almost a certainty that she has the combination idea worked out scientifically—she has to when certain qualities must not be lacking if she would live in comfort and entertain at all. And one of the paths that she takes out of the labyrinth leads straight to the door of the old furniture shop.

Temporarily appalled by the price of furniture as it is shown in the shops but not long dismayed, the bride-to-be visits the auction rooms and putting her knowledge of good furniture to use she chooses pieces that meet her tastes and suits her needs, and, behold, she gains her ends at comparatively small cost. She pays the prices, of course, of not fabulous ones—and she gets the worth of her money.

For be it here known that old furniture is better made than new. The reason? The laborer of the days gone by asked no such wage as do those of to-day. And since the making of furniture much labor is required and men must be paid what they demand, modern pieces cannot begin to compete with the old in price. The old furniture admits of being sold at less expensive rates. You may not believe it, but a high boy made by an old time workman and finished exquisitely and with painstaking care, is really cheaper, as far as the labor utilized in its making is concerned, than a modern chifforobe.

Among the startling discoveries made by Mrs. J. R. Forbes, the well-known traveler, who lately returned after wandering for several months from Morocco to Syria, was a tribe of women who lived underground. They are to be found in caves in the Tripoli Mountains, and come up, says Mrs. Forbes, only once in the course of their lives. That is when they marry and change their abode for that of their husband.

ENGLAND'S WAR MEMORIALS NOW WANT HUNDREDS

Beautiful and Dignified Monuments and Beauty Spots Commemorate Dead.

In view of the interest aroused locally in the question of the erection of a war memorial in Victoria, it may be timely to review the work which has been carried out along these lines in the Old Country. A writer in the Overseas Daily Mail of recent date says:

"No history books will be needed to remind future generations of the Great War, for all round them, in the smallest hamlets as in the largest cities, they will find memorials of the great sacrifices made by those who fought for their country on the supreme occasion."

Stone crosses with the names of those who died will stand in every village, and big towns are founding hospitals or laying out public parks. The Daily Mail recently invited the clerks of some hundreds of local authorities throughout England and Wales to supply particulars of the public war memorials in their districts. By their courtesy we have received particulars of 325 places, large and small, where war memorials have been or are to be erected. Of these, 72 have not yet decided what form the memorial is to take. The remaining 253 propose to spend at least £1,979,000 in memorials.

£1,000,000 To Hospitals.
To this total must be added the amount to be spent in towns that have not yet decided on the form of memorial, and the shrines and monuments which have been erected in almost every church and chapel throughout the land. It is a fair estimate that at least £3,000,000 is being spent on war memorials in England and Wales alone.

With memories of the suffering caused by the war, it is not unusual that many towns have chosen the building of new hospitals or the extension of existing ones as the best memorials. In the list collected 47 towns and villages out of 253 are devoting more than £4,000,000 to hospitals. They range from great new hospitals in Blackburn and Islington to small cottage hospitals in little market towns—the public spirit and the generosity of the people being on the whole, more remarkable than in great cities.

For the Living.
There are numerous parks and public halls, and several instances in which the funds have been created for the relief of dependents of those who were crippled or killed. Clubs for ex-service men are in some cases being built as memorials, and in others the laborer of the days gone by asked no such wage as do those of to-day. And since the making of furniture much labor is required and men must be paid what they demand, modern pieces cannot begin to compete with the old in price. The old furniture admits of being sold at less expensive rates. You may not believe it, but a high boy made by an old time workman and finished exquisitely and with painstaking care, is really cheaper, as far as the labor utilized in its making is concerned, than a modern chifforobe.

Reproductions of the Cenotaph erected in Whitehall abound, and another popular form of memorial is the Chippendale chair, a chair that was erected at the entrance to British war cemeteries in France. For the rest there are hundreds of crosses of all kinds, winged figures of "Victory," obelisks, and other stone columns.

Islington, Blackburn, and Woolwich each propose to spend £100,000 on new hospitals, and the last named borough has already collected more than £50,000 of the required amount.

Beauty Spots Acquired.
Opportunity has been taken in many cases of acquiring famous beauty spots as public parks. Coventry has been especially fortunate in this respect. Bliford has acquired Chudleigh fort and grounds; Chifforobe has purchased the Clitheroe Castle, and Lord Cowdray has presented to Colchester the famous local castle as a memorial, with £10,000 for improving the approaches and maintaining the fabric.

Carlisle as a memorial for all the men of Cumberland and Westmorland who fell in the war has acquired a magnificent park of 20 acres, and is building a large new bridge as a better approach to it.

One of the most original and most beautiful memorials will be at Leicester, where £20,000 is being spent in the plan of the cathedral church, consisting of nave, aisles, and transepts, with an apse at the east end. At the west end, looking east, will be the Cenotaph, and at the crossing, in a circle of stone walling on which will be inscribed the names of Leicester's dead, will be the Great War Stone, a monolith altar, with the phrase: "Their name liveth for evermore." Paved paths will accentuate the plan and lead to the monuments. The designer of this unique memorial is Sir Edward L. Lutyens.

SOME COLORS YOU SEE

Chow is a color you cannot help but like and you need hardly be told that it is that rich red brown that you see in the coat of a thoroughbred chow dog. It is unmistakable. It recently made its debut in one of the smart shops in a collection of polo coats and wraps made of chow colored camel's hair cloth.

Blonde is a color that is meeting with favor among the exclusive. It is hard to describe, but if you think that it is the color of blonde hair you are quite off the track. It is, on the contrary, a sort of drab dull shade of tan. In net or chiffon it suggests a spider web or cobweb as much as anything—gray, in a way, but browner than the usual gray.

HOUSEWIFELY ADVICE.

Oatmeal makes a very good thickener for soups. Eggs when scrambled should be stirred constantly. Even the fat of corned beef can be used in cooking. Potatoes require a cool, dark bin for winter keeping.

ACTIVE IN POLITICAL CAMPAIGN

Keep Out of a Rut

We should be constantly on the look-out for new ways of doing things, as well as new things at which to try ourselves out. The more of our faculties we can call into action the more of our abilities we can keep in action, the more sides of ourselves we can open to the passing flow of affairs and activities, the more surely inoculated against humdrum will we be. Let the steady going rail. What steadies one person will make another one stale. But when one's spirits flag and flatten and one has a sensation of being sodden and soggy then it is time for a boost, not a prod.

Badly-Ventilated Mind.
"She is letting her mind become as badly ventilated as she keeps her house—no fresh air," lamented one, concerning a certain woman who, though still nearer thirty than forty, has sat her down with the ideas and conclusions regarding men and matrimony that she adopted when scarcely past twenty and these mostly invented. How humdrum must grow her companionship, even to herself, before she is nearly fifty. Declared a vigorous man of affairs, "The biggest liability that business has is the rut." To keep out of the rut and the humdrum state we must be awake, alert, alive to the methods and manners, other points of view and even prejudices, tastes and tolerances that differ from those hitherto approved by us. Once we are satisfied and decadence has set in it is profitable to view other ways than our own experimentally, to visualize ourselves in them, to admit their possibilities even when we find it best not to try them. It is better thus to keep humming than to drop to humdrum.

Proves Mediocre.
How many a youth of promise when met later proves but mediocre after all. He simply slumped, rested on his laurels, slipped into a rut and gave himself up to humdrum. He is plodding and perfunctory when he might have been pioneering, pressing forward, as the early pioneers of him pointed. The big game is to keep the quality of his own spirit. A young American soldier, imprisoned in a forlorn and miserable German camp, was like to go mad, as he himself relates, but was saved by his memory of a store of Shelly's poetry, noble and beautiful lines and passages that came back to him increasingly as he recited them over and over again. So he resisted the deadening influence of his surroundings. We all have it within us to cultivate and command that which will rescue us from mediocrity. Because outward circumstances combine to oppress us, to restrict us, still that need not keep our inner selves from soaring.

WRINKLES AND RECIPES.
To freshen the air in a room, add a little turpentine to the water with which the floor is swept. To remove finger-marks from paint, rub them with a soft damp cloth dipped in prepared chalk. If you keep birds remember that sulphur fumes in hot water, suspended in the birdcage, will keep insects away. When cleaning your gas oven, put a little ammonia in the water. This will get the grease out and prevent the ironwork turning brown.

Save your egg-shells and use them to clean bottles and cups. Crush them up very fine, partly fill the bottles with them, and pour in soap-suds. Bamboo furniture will crack if allowed to get very dry. It should be rubbed regularly with a mixture of linseed oil and turpentine, applied with a flannel.

Before sweeping a room wet a newspaper in hot water and squeeze it until it ceases to drip. Tear into small pieces and drop these over the carpet to gather the dust. Rained butter can be restored to freshness if broken up into small pieces and put into a bowl of new milk. Let it remain there for about an hour, then drain it, wash in cold salt water, and form into balls again. When silver has become badly tarnished and you wish to avoid a great deal of rubbing and hard work in connection with the cleaning of it, put it in an aluminum dish and pour water over it. Boil in the water for a short time, and it will come out bright and clean. The aluminum pan will be slightly discolored after this process, but it may be easily cleaned with any scouring soap.

A good coal-saver may be made from a syrup tin. With a tin opener make holes all over the sides bottom of the tin. Then when lighting the fire, stand the tin bottom upwards in the grate. The presence of the tin with the air holes will make the fire burn up quickly, even if much less wood than usual is used. Later on less coal will be needed to fill the grate, and almost whatever is put on in the way of dust will burn brightly with the tin in position.

EVERY-DAY THRIFT.
Rice fritters are a nourishing dainty; make same as any fritter, using cooked rice. Cold beans, peas, fish or asparagus may each be served on lettuce with a simple dressing. Dip the tops of the fruit jars in paraffin wax. It will make them absolutely airtight and will keep them from being discolored after this process, but it may be easily cleaned with any scouring soap.

WOMAN'S LATEST VENTURE.
An engineering factory, organized, controlled and managed by women, who also execute the orders at the lathe and in the foundry. That is the latest enterprise of the "weaker sex." It is one which deserves every success.

At the head of the firm, called Atlantic, Ltd., is Lady Parsons, the wife of the famous engineer and inventor of the steam turbine. The factory was started in England by twenty ex-war workers. Good orders have already been secured, and Lady Parsons is convinced that these pioneer women engineers will be successful.

"There is nothing," she says, "that a woman cannot do when she tries."

FRENCH WORDS.
"Dragoon" and "cuirassier" are both French words. The original dragoons bore a dragon on their shield, while cuirassiers wore breastplates of copper, for which the French is "cuivre."

RAW EGG WHIP.
Method: Separate the egg, add a pinch of salt to yolk and one teaspoonful of sugar; beat with a fork until quite thick and creamy. Now whip the whites with a revolving whip until stiff, add yolk to white and whip until mass is a pale yellow buff. If brandy or orange juice may be given, one to two teaspoonfuls of either may be beaten into the yolk.

NECKWEAR.
Brocade neckwear is also shown to wear with the winter suit. Some of it is very good looking. There are waistcoats with high choker collars, made of heavy silk brocade, with a little fine thread lace used next to the skin of the throat. Others are made with open neck, so that whether you advocate a collar or a lack of one you may be satisfied.

HOUSEWIFELY ADVICE.
Oatmeal makes a very good thickener for soups. Eggs when scrambled should be stirred constantly. Even the fat of corned beef can be used in cooking. Potatoes require a cool, dark bin for winter keeping.

"She is letting her mind become as badly ventilated as she keeps her house—no fresh air," lamented one, concerning a certain woman who, though still nearer thirty than forty, has sat her down with the ideas and conclusions regarding men and matrimony that she adopted when scarcely past twenty and these mostly invented. How humdrum must grow her companionship, even to herself, before she is nearly fifty. Declared a vigorous man of affairs, "The biggest liability that business has is the rut." To keep out of the rut and the humdrum state we must be awake, alert, alive to the methods and manners, other points of view and even prejudices, tastes and tolerances that differ from those hitherto approved by us. Once we are satisfied and decadence has set in it is profitable to view other ways than our own experimentally, to visualize ourselves in them, to admit their possibilities even when we find it best not to try them. It is better thus to keep humming than to drop to humdrum.

Proves Mediocre.
How many a youth of promise when met later proves but mediocre after all. He simply slumped, rested on his laurels, slipped into a rut and gave himself up to humdrum. He is plodding and perfunctory when he might have been pioneering, pressing forward, as the early pioneers of him pointed. The big game is to keep the quality of his own spirit. A young American soldier, imprisoned in a forlorn and miserable German camp, was like to go mad, as he himself relates, but was saved by his memory of a store of Shelly's poetry, noble and beautiful lines and passages that came back to him increasingly as he recited them over and over again. So he resisted the deadening influence of his surroundings. We all have it within us to cultivate and command that which will rescue us from mediocrity. Because outward circumstances combine to oppress us, to restrict us, still that need not keep our inner selves from soaring.

WRINKLES AND RECIPES.
To freshen the air in a room, add a little turpentine to the water with which the floor is swept. To remove finger-marks from paint, rub them with a soft damp cloth dipped in prepared chalk. If you keep birds remember that sulphur fumes in hot water, suspended in the birdcage, will keep insects away. When cleaning your gas oven, put a little ammonia in the water. This will get the grease out and prevent the ironwork turning brown.

Save your egg-shells and use them to clean bottles and cups. Crush them up very fine, partly fill the bottles with them, and pour in soap-suds. Bamboo furniture will crack if allowed to get very dry. It should be rubbed regularly with a mixture of linseed oil and turpentine, applied with a flannel.

Before sweeping a room wet a newspaper in hot water and squeeze it until it ceases to drip. Tear into small pieces and drop these over the carpet to gather the dust. Rained butter can be restored to freshness if broken up into small pieces and put into a bowl of new milk. Let it remain there for about an hour, then drain it, wash in cold salt water, and form into balls again. When silver has become badly tarnished and you wish to avoid a great deal of rubbing and hard work in connection with the cleaning of it, put it in an aluminum dish and pour water over it. Boil in the water for a short time, and it will come out bright and clean. The aluminum pan will be slightly discolored after this process, but it may be easily cleaned with any scouring soap.

WOMAN'S LATEST VENTURE.
An engineering factory, organized, controlled and managed by women, who also execute the orders at the lathe and in the foundry. That is the latest enterprise of the "weaker sex." It is one which deserves every success.

At the head of the firm, called Atlantic, Ltd., is Lady Parsons, the wife of the famous engineer and inventor of the steam turbine. The factory was started in England by twenty ex-war workers. Good orders have already been secured, and Lady Parsons is convinced that these pioneer women engineers will be successful.

"There is nothing," she says, "that a woman cannot do when she tries."

FRENCH WORDS.
"Dragoon" and "cuirassier" are both French words. The original dragoons bore a dragon on their shield, while cuirassiers wore breastplates of copper, for which the French is "cuivre."

RAW EGG WHIP.
Method: Separate the egg, add a pinch of salt to yolk and one teaspoonful of sugar; beat with a fork until quite thick and creamy. Now whip the whites with a revolving whip until stiff, add yolk to white and whip until mass is a pale yellow buff. If brandy or orange juice may be given, one to two teaspoonfuls of either may be beaten into the yolk.

NECKWEAR.
Brocade neckwear is also shown to wear with the winter suit. Some of it is very good looking. There are waistcoats with high choker collars, made of heavy silk brocade, with a little fine thread lace used next to the skin of the throat. Others are made with open neck, so that whether you advocate a collar or a lack of one you may be satisfied.

HOUSEWIFELY ADVICE.
Oatmeal makes a very good thickener for soups. Eggs when scrambled should be stirred constantly. Even the fat of corned beef can be used in cooking. Potatoes require a cool, dark bin for winter keeping.

Gravy so often mars the perfection of a meat that it would seem as if all cooks do not realize what a really important factor it is in the success of whatever dish with which it is served. Yet it is not at all difficult to resolve gravies that are delicious if only one puts just an ordinary amount of time and effort into their making. Instead of plain boiling water it is well to have ready a liquid for diluting the essences in the pan, a liquid that has been seasoned with vegetable stock or essence. This may be made while the roast is cooking. Cut up celery, the coarser parts of leaves; chopped onions or carrots or whatever vegetable may be desired, cover with water and then transfer this essence to the gravy of the roast.

Veal Croquettes.
Mince a coffee cup of cold veal in a chopping bowl, adding a little cold ham add two or three slices of onion, a pinch of mace, powdered parsley and pepper, some salt. Let a pint of milk come to the boiling point, then add a tablespoon over one cup hot water, then the above mixture. Beat up two eggs and mix with a teaspoon of cornstarch or flour and add to the rest. Cook it all about ten minutes, stirring with care. Remove from the fire and spread it on a platter, roll it into balls. When cool flatten each, dip them in egg and bread crumbs and fry in a wire basket dipped in hot lard.

Ham Croquettes.
To one cup chopped ham add one cup mashed potato, one cup bread crumbs, one tablespoon cream or milk. Mix well, form into balls, roll in crumbs, then in beaten egg, then in crumbs again. Fry in hot lard.

Baked Smoked Ham.
One slice of ham one inch thick; stick in twelve cloves; slice thin two tart apples; surround the ham; sprinkle with two tablespoons brown sugar; pour over one cup hot water; cover closely and bake one hour.

American Chop Suey.
Cook one package macaroni in boiling salted water for twenty minutes. While this is cooking, put through food chopper two onions and one-half pound cheap steak, brown in hot frying pan with piece of butter. Drain the water from macaroni, add one can tomatoes, season with salt and pepper, then add the steak and onions, and cook slowly on back of stove for thirty minutes. This is sufficient for supper for four people.

Molded Beef.
Procure a shin of beef, have the bone sawed in four or five pieces, cover with boiling water and cook until the meat leaves the bone. Then chop fine, discarding all the gristle and hard bits; set the liquor away until all the fat has risen to the top; then remove the fat and boil the liquor down so it will jelly when cold. Season with half a teaspoon allspice, half a teaspoon black pepper and salt to taste. Add the chopped meat and simmer for ten minutes, stirring often. Four into a mold until cold.

Mushroom Gravy.
Try out enough salt pork diced to make two tablespoons of fat. Cook in this two tablespoons each of chopped onion and other chopped vegetables in small proportions, unless the meat stock has been well seasoned with vegetables. Stir into the mixture four tablespoons of flour and stir and cook it until lightly brown. Add two cups of meat stock, stir and cook until it has thickened. Strain and put back to cook for an hour, gently stirring often so as to keep a film from forming. Add salt if necessary and serve with almost any meat, or keep to warm up and serve as it is, or seasoned with spices or curry powder. Mushrooms are a favorite addition.

Brown Gravy.
One tablespoonful each of butter, flour mushroom catsup, tomato catsup and Worcestershire sauce; one onion, one bay leaf, one quart of stock. Put the butter in a frying pan and let it brown; add the flour and mix well; then add the stock, stir until it boils; then add the catsup, the Worcestershire sauce, onion, bay leaf, and pour it over the meat; simmer gently three hours; then take the meat out, put in a baking pan, pour over two tablespoonfuls of glass or gravy, and let it be in the oven for ten or fifteen minutes to brown; then dish, and strain the gravy over and around it.

THINGS TO REMEMBER.
Over a layer of custard spread a layer of sliced bananas soaked in sweetened orange juice and top with whipped cream. When selecting a ham, run a clean knife in at the knuckle and at the centre; if it comes out clean and sweet smelling the ham is good. Heat rancid butter to the boiling point and boil slowly for six or eight hours, and it may be used for cooking. When using canned berries for pie, the unnecessary juice may be thickened with cornstarch and served with the pie. If poison is swallowed, drink a half glass of lukewarm water with a teaspoonful each of salt and ground mustard. Ink may be removed from linen by bathing freely with lemon juice, sprinkling thickly with fine salt and placing in the sun for two hours.

WELSH RAREBIT.
The Boston Welsh rarebit is made without liquor of any sort and is an excellent treat for an amateur to follow, as there is absolutely no danger of its springing. Cut into small pieces one pound mild American cheese. Put into the chafing dish, blazer or saucepan with two level teaspoonfuls butter. Soften, stirring and smashing the cheese all the time over the blaze, adding as it softens a half teaspoonful salt; a saltspoonful mustard and red pepper to taste. When well mixed add one-half cup cream and stir until light and creamy. Then add two eggs beaten light, stir hard just a moment, put on a cover and let the rarebit rest a few seconds over the heat. Extinguish the flame or push back on the range, let it stand a moment without stirring, then spread on slices of crisp toast, or, if preferred, slices of toast dipped in hot salted water or milk to just moisten. Serve very hot. This rarebit is also good spread on soda crackers crisped in the oven.

MR. BOWSER CANNOT PROMISED MORE THAN PER CAPITA GRANT

ment purposes between three and four millions of dollars.

"How much sort are you in your sinking funds?" asked Mr. Bowser. "Two and one-half million dollars, in local improvement sinking funds at the present time," the alderman answered. "We have been justified in our protest against the financial condition of affairs. We have complained that we have not had enough sources of revenue and have been endeavoring to get from the land sufficient money to carry on the city and pay our debts. That has been shown to be impossible," he declared and proceeded to contrast the financial position of British Columbia municipalities compared to that of the cities and towns of other provinces.

In every other Province, except Quebec, he stated, the municipalities enjoyed a personal property and income tax, while in Quebec the cities were allowed to tax stocks lying in warehouses and stores, as well as rental values. "Thus," he said, "all the Provinces have increased sources of revenue while we are expected to get along with land taxes, a $2 road tax and ordinary business licenses."

Conditions Not Novel

"These conditions," he stated, "are nothing new. This is a condition which in other provinces are enjoyed for three years or more. It is this. Alderman Sargent proceeded as he laid before Mr. Bowser the proposition made by the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, and the recent gathering of municipal representatives here that the Government administer the schools and hospitals and the Province and share with the municipalities the motor and amusement taxes. Victoria, Alderman Sargent stated, had wished to offer as an alternative to the Government grant the increased revenue sources that had been outlined from time to time. It had yielded on this point, however, to the other municipalities.

To Avoid Bickering

"The sources of revenue which the Government enjoys," he stated, "and which in other provinces are enjoyed by the cities, would over and beyond supply the requirements of the schools and hospitals," the alderman asserted. In any case, he argued, education could be more efficiently administered by the Provincial Government than by the cities, and such a system would do away with the municipal bickering over educational costs. If the Government took over school administration the school system would remain as at present and the schools would be directed by school boards, and the Government would simply supply the necessary money.

If the Government were to take over the administration of hospitals, declared Alderman Sargent, a veritable improvement would follow without cost to the Government. "The municipalities, after discussing the matter, he stated, had tacitly agreed that, if the Government would take over the hospitals, they would forego their $2 road tax and allow a hospital tax to be levied upon everyone as a poll tax, to take its place. "If everyone in the Province contributed a head tax for hospital purposes I have statistics to show that the hospitals of the Province would be maintained without trouble as far as finances are concerned. Anyone must see that the Government taking over hospitals would be of advantage to the Government, the Province and the people."

Hospital Expenditure

The alderman said that under present conditions young people feared additional taxes for their families purely financial reasons. This condition should not exist, and he thought that treatment in public hospitals should not cost them more than $1 a day and maternity treatment should cost nothing.

"The cities have got to have financial relief," he concluded. "We have taken over nearly two millions of dollars of our assessment and men in public life would realize that the situation is critical. At the present time a man can drive into Victoria, live here six months and then, falling ill, go to the Jubilee Hospital for the rest of his life without paying the city. We are paying $900 a month now for such people. The condition is absolutely impossible and revenue must come. If we have outlined lines of relief agreeable to you we would be glad if you would make yourself clear on that point."

The Conservative Policy

"I have listened to your explanations with a great deal of interest and we are on all fours in reference to that matter," Mr. Bowser commenced in replying to the delegation. "I remember well that when we were in office prior to 1915 there were complaints and demands from the municipalities that we should let go of some forms of taxation, but the Government could not see its way clear to that and the condition of the municipalities was not so bad then. Since then you have lost hotel licenses, which was an important part of your revenue. As your population has increased, has paid more, and more into the Government through theatre taxes and through motor licenses. Both these, the cities thought they should have some portion of.

"In the Conservative convention last year," Mr. Bowser recalled, "we decided that a portion of the revenue from automobiles and theatres should go to the municipalities. Then the Government has brought down a bill under which they have allocated $5,000,000 to be raised by motor taxes which they are to set aside a sinking fund to pay for that $5,000,000 expenditure. That wipes out entirely the suggestion that the cities should receive a portion of the motor licenses. As regards the theatre tax they have made no change save giving the municipalities the right to increase the tax, and the same was done in reference to the municipalities collecting the poll tax. The cities, I understand, have not taken advantage of that."

"On this account, I had prior to the election, to more or less extent, what our policy would be in regard to these matters. I have consulted as many of my friends as possible and made public the statement that so far as we are concerned we would give the municipalities a per capita grant, and we feel we could do so if we expect profits from the sale of liquor which we did not enjoy before. I don't know what amount that will be—and it will be a matter for the new finance minister to consider—but the municipalities will receive a good cheque from the provincial treasury to assist them to pay their way and bring down their assessments. If the cities thus receive a new source of revenue money from the Provincial Treasury, and values will increase and taxes on land will be paid."

"However, I think you must see yourselves that it is hardly fair to ask me at half past eleven this morning to tell you at twelve—let us say in your memorandum—whether I would take over the cost of administering the schools and hospitals. Why the public would say I was willing to make any promise in half an hour! My own supporters could not agree with that action on my part."

Not Before Election

"We are quite prepared to give you more time than that allowed in our memorandum," interjected Mayor Porter. "Even if you expected me to answer you before December 1, that would be difficult too," Mr. Bowser replied. "It is a matter I cannot answer right now. If there is anything I do not want it is a one-man government, and I don't want to say more than I have already done or than I am going to take over the hospitals and schools. It would be a promise for any business man to promise that without knowing the final costs of such a move. I don't know how this Government will leave the finances of the Province, but I do know that there is a serious road ahead for the Province, and I don't know how many millions this plan of yours would run into at all."

"Now in reference to your statement that people can come here and be treated in your hospitals without paying they come here, and spend their money."

An Awful Burden

"But they bring no revenue to the city, but only to the Government," answered Alderman Sargent. "Well, they leave money with your merchants—you must take the good with the bad. However, I don't want to criticize your requests, but you are asking me to assume an awful burden. It's a pig in a poke and as, having been out of power for four years, I have no idea of the world what the cost of these things you advocate would be. I know it would run into millions of dollars, as we are spending millions now on schools without administering them."

"Then in regard to the automobile and theatre taxes, you are suggesting to give you part of them until the existing legislation is changed. All that money is allocated. I quite agree with you here that this plan the Government has put into effect does not meet with my approval, and was not the idea of the Conservative convention."

Not Equitable

Mr. Bowser thought that the plan to hand over to the municipalities part of the theatre taxes collected in them would not be fair to the smaller towns, as the revenue thus derived would be infinitesimal, though the system might be satisfactory to cities as large as Victoria. A per capita grant such as he proposed he considered would be fairer and more satisfactory. "That doesn't say that this plan for a per capita grant," he added, "is final as far as we are concerned. It would be foolish for representatives of a party to agree to your suggestion when he doesn't know what he is agreeing to. The matter would have been left until a new cabinet was formed and until the new finance minister could see what it would cost to do these things. He would get in touch with the municipalities of the whole Province or with the Union of B. C. Municipalities if that were considered the most satisfactory body."

The Cases Needed Now

"We might wish to confer, however, with representatives of all the municipalities and might perhaps contribute to their expenses in coming to

SEMI-ANNUAL MEETING COLUMBIA W.A. BOARD HEARS FINE REPORTS

The semi-annual meeting of the Columbia W. A. Diocesan Board was held in Christ Church Cathedral schoolroom on Friday. At the opening of the morning session Mrs. Belson, on behalf of the Diocesan W. A., offered a very hearty welcome home to Mrs. Schofield, who replied, thanking the W. A. for the fern and flowers which adorned Bishop's Close on their return. Mrs. Schofield also brought greetings from Miss Turner, Miss Aston and Miss Orwin, who are now in England.

Reports of city branches were then given, and at noon a beautiful address on the "Mysticism of St. Paul," was given by the Dean of Columbia, urging prayer, meditation and detachment from outside things. The president then introduced Miss Windsor, who has just arrived in the city on behalf of the "Save the Children Fund." Miss Windsor very vividly described the terrible sufferings of the church evangelists, Rev. Thos. McConnell, M. A., have been secured for a special mission, which is to commence on Thursday evening, and a meeting has been instituted in the city, held on Thursday evenings, and is in charge of the interim moderator, Rev. D. Lister.

On the 11th of November was provided by the Cathedral W. A., and later reports were continued. Mrs. Schofield gave a most interesting detailed report of the annual meeting of the Dominion Board of the W. A. recently held in Winnipeg.

A resolution regarding increased interest in Anglican Theological College was endorsed by the Board of Columbia W. A. The Bishop of Columbia called to give his greetings to the meeting and to wish the members Godspeed in their work. The Bishop said that all over England the greatest interest in the Dominion seemed to be in the work of the Anglican Church. Plans were being made for definite work for the Advent Season; the Bishop hoped members would work faithfully and prayerfully.

A Quiet Day for Women is to be held in the Cathedral on November 30, conducted by Rev. Mr. Shortt, of Vancouver. Out of town Branches, and Girls' Branches reported. The president felt there had been steady growth in the work since the annual meeting, reports nearly all showing an increase in the number of members and five members were in attendance. The announcement included St. John's annual sale of work and embroidery, St. Paul's annual sale of work and embroidery, St. Mary's Girls' sale of work; also Cathedral Juniors' sale and entertainment on December 3; St. Jude's sale of work and embroidery, December 8; St. Paul's Guild sale of work and afternoon tea at the Rectory, December 2.

Anniversary Social at St. Aidan's

A large gathering assembled in St. Aidan's Presbyterian Church on Thursday evening to celebrate the twenty-sixth anniversary of the planting of the Presbyterian cause in Mount Tomlie. Rev. D. Lister, the minister, presided. Apologies for absence were intimated from Revs. Dr. Clay and Dr. Maclean, Jos. McCoy and Dr. Walker and Millar. Greetings were brought by Rev. G. A. Wells, rector of St. Luke's, Rev. W. L. Macrae, Rev. Thos. McCord and G. H. Gardiner. Mr. and Mrs. Longfield and the St. Andrew's Church choir provided a splendid musical programme, several encores being insisted upon. At the close the St. Aidan's Junior Women's Auxiliary served refreshments. This is the first public appearance since their organization a few days ago, and their appearance and service evoked many expressions of praise.

DEAN ON REUNION.

"At the morning service to-morrow in the Cathedral at eleven o'clock," the Dean of Columbia, Very Rev. S. Quinlan, will continue the series of sermons preached on the reports and recommendations of the Lambeth Conference. To-morrow the Dean will speak on the important report dealing with the reunion of the Christian Church. The Dean will also give a short address at the evening service at 7 p.m.

"Our Elder Brother"
confer with us. I want to do my best to settle the conditions between the municipalities and the Province. I am convinced that we must do something for you. You cannot continue to tax your land. I am quite in accord with your plea for more revenue, but I don't think it is to you when in office because the case was not as hard as it is now. You are really reduced now to your $2 poll tax and the tax on land. I quite agree that you must have further relief. I don't say that the $2 per capita grant is final, but that will be given to you as soon as the Legislative session is over if we are elected. It may be that we shall assume more than we promise to do now, but you can hardly expect me to say I can approve of your plans without knowing what the provincial burden would be. There is no doubt in my mind that the Government should assist the municipalities and so far as I am concerned we shall strain every point, outside of the per capita grant, to give you every thing we can out of the treasury."

"All these things require consideration. Take the personal property tax—there would be a great deal of opposition to that. That must be considered by the new Minister of Finance, as it must be the present double income tax levied by the Province and the Dominion. Something must be done in that matter with the Ottawa Government and see if it will take off its income tax. All these things must be considered. It's such a big question that no sane, honest man can say anything more than I have—that a per capita grant will be given to the municipalities at the first session of the new Legislature if I am at the head of a new Government. If it is possible I shall try to reply to your memorandum though I am leaving the city to-night. I shall try to answer it some time next week."

Thinking Mr. Bowser for his attention the Mayor declared that there had been no attempt on the part of the municipalities to embarrass either Mr. Bowser or the Premier.

TO PRESENT ORATORIO Choir of St. Luke's, Cedar Hill, to Present "Christ and His Soldiers," Wednesday Next.

The choir has been augmented to the number of thirty voices, and an enjoyable and profitable time is anticipated. A collection will be taken to aid the Organ Fund.

Oak Bay Presbyterians—St. Columba, Presbyterian Church, Oak Bay, is raising itself to a vigorous forward movement in a spiritual direction.

The services of one of the church evangelists, Rev. Thos. McConnell, M. A., have been secured for a special mission, which is to commence on Thursday evening, and a meeting has been instituted in the city, held on Thursday evenings, and is in charge of the interim moderator, Rev. D. Lister.

LAYMEN'S LEAGUE HAS GREAT FUTURE

Dr. Day Gave Inspirational Address Before Leaving on Modern Thought

Theoretical atheism is not hurting the world very much any more. Debates about the existence or non-existence of God in which the contestants hurled their affirmations back and forth across the field, much as tennis players hurl the ball, leaving the battle to be won by the player who has greatest skill in debate never did much harm. The great battle about the existence of God in the world today is by practical atheism, as exemplified by too many persons in places of great public and social trust and responsibility who act as if there is no God; whose conduct is governed by their personal desires, lusts, and indifference to the duty of their position.

These were the words in which Rev. Dr. John R. Day, justified the forward movement in Unitarian churches represented by the Laymen's League, and the international campaign already undertaken, in an address in the Unitarian church Tuesday night. While the address dealt chiefly with the Christian religion, interest to Unitarian adherents and outlined the departmental activities of the new organization there were many points of common ground.

He said a tribute, not boastfully but "in a manner of stock-taking" the place occupied by both prominent and humble Unitarians in local, civic and national movements for the betterment of mankind. In this connection he said, "There may be many points of common ground between Unitarian churches but none of these would wish to lose the help and co-operation of Unitarian people in their good work."

In speaking of the power of the Christian religion he emphasized the fact that all its usefulness and help to humanity must be based on the person, who imitates him, worships him, and takes the greatest pride of all in the fact that he belongs to the same family. This is true more especially when the character and life of the elder brother is beyond reproach, faultless, unimpeachable and worthy to be idolized and imitated.

WOMAN TO SPEAK AT CHRIST CHURCH

Miss Windsor Was Bishop's Messenger on Red Cross Efforts

At the conclusion of the regular evening service to-morrow night at seven o'clock in Christ Church Cathedral, an address will be given by Miss Windsor, a visitor to Victoria from England.

Miss Windsor is engaged on a special tour through the Dominion in the interests of efforts being made by the Red Cross organizations in their aim to give whatever help is advisable and possible to the starving and afflicted peoples and children in the various war-stricken areas of Central Europe.

Was Bishop's Messenger. Miss Windsor is an active and prominent member of the Church of England, and at the time of the National Mission of Repentance and Hope undertaken by the Anglican Church during the war, acted as one of the Bishop's messengers who were specially appointed to speak in churches in the interests of the National Mission.

ABORIGINAL MISSION IN NORTH W. AUSTRALIA

The Rev. E. R. Gribble, of Forrest River Anglican Mission, North-West Australia, is touring the south with the idea of raising funds (about $500) to stock the station and make it self-supporting. At present the organization has 200 natives, goats, 185 sheep, 14 horses, 13 donkeys and 63 cows. The mission is 200 miles from Darwin and 52 miles from Wyndham, just inside Western Australian territory, on the Cambridge Gulf. Chatting with a representative of The Register on Monday, Mr. Gribble said that he was on the reserve living absolutely in the life of the natives. They did not know the boomerang, but were expert with spears. Nature was good there, and the natives had kangaroos, emus, and other game for food. "Clothing," remarked the missionary, is one of the greatest curses we can give the aborigines of Australia, especially in the tropics. The only hope of doing any lasting good to them is to segregate them from the European. Our system has been to set apart large reserves for them, and keep the white men out, but unfortunately many of them will not keep away from the whites and that causes disease." Mr. Gribble contends that Australia should let the natives have a say in their own country away from white people altogether. Australia had done less for the aborigine than any other part of the Empire. In a little under five years they had been practically wiped out. There were none in Tasmania, about 300 in Victoria, and 7,000 in New South Wales, most of whom were half-castes.

STUDENTS CLAIM TO ASSISTANCE IN INTEREST OF ART

Toronto Conservatory Joins University of Toronto as Part of Institution

(By George J. Dyke)

We have noted recently that at recent musical events, lectures, etc., given in the Mainland City of Vancouver, that special rates have been arranged for students, colleges, and private and public schools. We do not know if the Vancouver concert managers are following the example, which has been set here for some time, but be that as it may, we are glad to see that the young people of the community are thus considered. May it long continue and wherever and whenever possible may the student's be given consideration by those who have concerts and other similar affairs under their management. Let the young people's claim and opportunity be theirs to suit their purse, which is not very often a well filled one.

Festival at New Westminster.
New Westminster held its musical festival at the Opera House this week. The arrangements made by the local committee have been admirably enthusiastic and complete. The adjudicator, Henry Green of Vancouver, had no light task as there were no less than thirteen original compositions submitted. This is a pleasing announcement to make, and bears unmistakable proofs that music talent is being developed in this part of the Dominion. There were three valuable and handsome medals offered to the competitors, besides two shields and many prizes. Come Victoria, what steps are we taking in this direction? As frequently suggested cannot some of the music people get together and make a beginning? I am more than ever convinced that the people of this city and the surrounding districts would give a music festival in Victoria their generous and whole-hearted support. Once more let the question be asked, will someone make the beginning? What a splendid thing it would be for the city. A musical festival during the Winter months would attract hundreds from the prairies and up-country points.

Winter Band Concerts at Vancouver.
Rowland's concert band continues its Sunday evening concerts with the unabated support of Vancouver's populace. Mayor Gais is often seen at these concerts. Lieut. J. D. Parkin is the new bandmaster of the Great War Veterans' Band of Vancouver.

New National Schools of Music.
Among the newly-born nations of Europe and Asia, where hitherto musical development outside their own boundaries was little known, are many who have already developed a national school of music of their own. They are the Poles, the Finns, the Czechs-Slovaks, the Jugo-Slavs, the Letts, the Armenians, the Estonians, the Ukrainians, the Georgians, the Lithuanians and the Crimean Tartars.

Futuristic.
At a recent concert given by the National Symphony Orchestra of New York, there was played the "Impressioni del Vero" by Malipiero—the composer who recently won the Coolidge prize for chamber music. These "impressions" are an example of the somewhat futuristic writing of the present day Italian school. In this composition the orchestra plays in two keys at once, and dissonance is courted rather than avoided. The futurists used this sounds somewhat discordant and one cannot but wonder what would the grand old masters say if they could but return and listen to some of the music of the day.

Fascinating.
The "Huguenots" has been revived at the Opera House in Paris. This is perhaps Meyerbeer's most popular opera in the fourth act is the "Benediction of the Pontiffs" which always fascinates the audience.

"Ten Years and Ten Thousand."
A well-known singing teacher says that "ten years and ten thousand dollars" must be devoted to the preparation of a singer for opera. Sounds like a sentence for manslaughter. Glitter of Triumphs Nothing to Her. Jenny Lind (1820) the "Swedish Nightingale," whose head was never turned by the glitter of her many triumphs once wrote to a friend: "Few suspect how unutterably little the world and its splendour have been able to turn my mind giddy—herrings and potatoes—a clean wooden chair, and a wooden spoon to eat milk-soup with—that would make me like a child for joy." Simple, earnest, retiring, humility, idealistic yet to what transcendent heights did this beloved singer reach, worshipped alike by the greatest musicians—Chopin, Liszt, Mendelssohn, Meyerbeer, truly testified their veneration—and by the multitude. Mrs. Raymond Maude, now living quietly in London, England, is a daughter of Jenny Lind—Mrs. Maude has written some charming songs.

POPULAR CALL FOR HERB REMEDIES

People who were disposed to laugh at herb remedies a year ago are doing so no longer. From every part of the province comes the stories of druggists as to the great demand for Wonder Health Restorer as the result of actual results in the treatment of disease in the neighborhood. As one druggist says, "I was a little skeptical about its claims when I ordered it. But it has made a good in every way. It is one of the most wonderful remedies I ever handled." The strong endorsements of Wonder Health Restorer should be read with interest by every person afflicted with Stomach troubles in any form, Asthma, Rheumatism, Kidney complaint, Nervous affections, Skin disease, Piles, etc.—for all of which it is an unequalled remedy. It contains absolutely nothing but herbs, but the potency of these herbs for the relief of disease will astonish all. Time after time have sufferers taken Wonder Health Restorer and a few days' rest only to wish after a month's treatment they had taken it long ago and saved themselves years of suffering and misery.

Two Friends in Music.
Cyril Scott on the day after his arrival in New York last month, went at once to the home of his friend Percy Grainger. These two of the best-known "moderns" of the day have been friends for many years, each one championing the music of the other in word and performance. They were students together in Frankfurt at the Conservatoire of Iwan Knorr. Cyril Scott the "Modernist," the 20th century composer, loves Bach.

A Surprise For Americans.
For the first time in its history the Grand Opera in Paris is opening its doors to an American work. This comes as a surprise, for the Parisian musicians have for some time past adopted an almost "closed door" policy in regard to foreign works. The American thus honored is John Alden Carpenter whose "Birthday of the Infanta" will be produced at the Grand Opera, Paris, during the present season.

San Francisco's Symphony.
The San Francisco Symphony orchestra began its regular concert series last month. Beethoven's wonderful symphony "Eroica" was the opening number of the programme. An immense crowd greeted the orchestra.

Great Prima Donna's Resting Place.
It was Mme. Adelina Patti's wish she be buried in Pere Lachaise, Paris, where her body has been taken by her husband, Baron Cedeo, for burial. The great prima donna's grave lies in this cemetery, a plot of 110 acres, dedicated in 1804, half way up the path to the right of the chapel. As yet it is only temporarily arranged, but on the large slab in letters about four inches high appears the name "Adelina Patti." A little unpainted wooden rack holds a few flowers at the foot of the grave. Chopin, Rossini and many other well-known musicians rest in this cemetery.

Supreme Court Judge An Organist.
The Hon. Edward J. McGeorgie, Supreme Court Judge of New York and Bronx Counties, is a musician and proud of it. He was once church organist in Albany, and has written a number of compositions. Since he went on the bench he only plays the organ at the wedding ceremonies of his friends.

Made Into Song.
The only nocturne in F sharp major Op. 15 No. 2 (Chopin) has been arranged as a song by the Canadian composer, Mr. J. H. B. L. in London, England. It is highly recommended to singers.

Anna Pavlova Drew $50,000.
That wonderfully popular and brilliant dancer, Anna Pavlova, established a record at the box office when she completed her engagement at the Manhattan Opera House, New York, on Oct. 23. The week's takings were $50,000, this being the highest figure earned in one week by any but an operatic company.

Toronto Conservatory Joins University

Negotiations have been completed by which the Toronto Conservatory of Music, a well-known and leading music school of that city, becomes part of the University of Toronto. The management of this Conservatory will be directed by a board appointed by the University and responsible to the University Board of Governors. The faculty is headed by Dr. A. S. Vogt as Dean, Dr. Healey Willan, Dr. Albert Ham, H. F. Pricker and F. T. Moore. This is a development of outstanding importance in Canada's musical education. It will prove an immense advantage to the cause of music. Examinations in music can now be standardized throughout the Province of Ontario, and should prove an impetus to all music centers in the Dominion. Hitherto, Ontario has had no provincial school of music similar to those connected with the Universities of other states and provinces. McGill University, at Montreal, Quebec, has had for many years a university school of music.

LONDON WOMEN SMOKE PIPES SET WITH JEWELS

London, Nov. 20.—Pipe smoking seems to be on the increase among London women, and fashionable cigar stores display dainty small briars, some set with precious stones. It is said there is a growing demand for these.

At one West London theatre where smoking is permitted two smartly dressed women were seen the other evening in a box puffing at their jeweled pipes, and soon an old Irish woman in the gallery followed suit. Her's was a clay "cutty."

In a first-class railroad car between Horsham and London a quarrel arose the other day between a number of non-smoking women and another woman who refused to put out her cigarette at her sister traveler's request. It ended in one of the anti-smokers seizing the offending cigarette, gold-mounted tortoiseshell holder and all, and flinging it out of the window.

Two guineas costs will meet the case," said the magistrate.

Women's Canadian Club—"Our Eastern Empire" is to be the subject of an interesting address by Miss Agnes Bamford Black before the Women's Canadian Club on Tuesday, November 23, at 3:15 at the Empress Hotel. Miss Black will give her impressions of India, culled from her experience in that Empire and her interviews with leading Indian princes. During the afternoon Mrs. S. M. Morton will contribute vocal numbers.
